

America-Firsters Japan's Ace in Hole, Thompson Charges

By DOROTHY THOMPSON.

The poker game between the United States and Japan is stud with most of the cards on the table and without a look into anybody's hand it is pretty clear how things are going. In this game the Russian card rounds out our hand and not the Japs', as the Japs expected it would. The Japanese expected that Moscow would fall during the American negotiations and the Russian resistance as a whole would collapse this winter. Hitler would get the Caucasian oil and Germany would be enabled to launch an all out attack on Britain.

We don't know whether Hitler intended to make this a frontal attack on Britain or mop up the Middle East. He promised the first and prepared for the second. But at this moment the two points of departure for his attack on the Middle East are being crippled—the Von Kleist army in Rostov and the Rommel army in Libya, the two pincers, are being pinched.

Japan also hoped that during the negotiations, Vichy might deliver the French fleet and strategic points in North Africa to the Nazis. If that should happen, it would be a blow not only against the British, but against the United States, for we are immediately interested in all shifts of naval power, and in the transition of African points vital to hemisphere defense.

We don't know yet the results of the conference near Paris, but we have some hints. First, it was announced there would be a meeting between Hitler and Petain, and second, Rome said officially that Mussolini would like to participate. Had that happened, it would have been a very important conference, perhaps decisive, perhaps a negotiated peace between the Axis and Vichy. But it was only Goering who turned up, and with no Italian at all. So we can guess that Petain had developed a certain reluctance in view of the events in Libya and in Russia.

It is not certain what Petain would do in another situation, but as he himself remarked, it is deeds and not words that count. So the Petain card didn't make any full house for the Japs either.

There was a third card: The division of America from China. It is now clear that Kurosu was sent to Washington with a task—to get the "C" dropped from the ABC powers and to threaten Chiang Kai-shek into a negotiated peace with Japan. Then the Japs would have had their hands free to enter the Southern Pacific—against us.

This is Japanese diplomacy on the Hitler model, but by

F. D. R. Opens Lease-Lend Coffers To Turkey in Surprise Coup to Bar Hitler From Highroad Into Caucasus

Drastic Strike Russians Seize Curb Voted by House, 252-136 Germans Flee

Bill Is Substitute for Measures Offered by Vinson, Ramspeck.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—

The house today passed the stringent Smith bill to check strikes in the defense industries, expressing by a 252-to-136 vote its accumulated impatience at the long series of such walkouts.

In doing so, it overrode the pleas of administration leaders for less rigid legislation and adopted a measure which was repeatedly denounced in debate as "antilabor" and a threat to the gains which labor had made through the enactments of the New Deal.

As sent to the senate, where an uncertain fate awaits it, the legislation would:

Forbid strikes unless they are approved by a majority of the workers by secret ballot.

Cooling-off Period.

Require a 60-day cooling-off period between the time a strike is ordered and the time it becomes effective, with the Defense Mediation Board seeking a settlement during the interim.

Forbid strike violence, boycotts and sympathy and jurisdictional strikes.

Require that wherever the closed shop or the open shop is in force in a defense plant, it shall continue for the duration of the national emergency.

Require unions to register with the government.

Deny the benefits of the national labor relations act, the social security law and unemployment compensation to workers or unions violating the new act.

Debate Over Two Bills.

Representative Smith, Democrat, Virginia, presented the bill as a substitute for a less stringent measure approved by the administration leadership and introduced by Representative Ramspeck, Democrat, Georgia—a bill confined largely to the cooling-off period, with provisions for compulsory arbitration.

A long day of debate centered upon the question which of the two measures should be accepted. In the end, although the Smith bill received votes from virtually all sections of the country, a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats was largely credited with forcing its approval.

Georgians voting for the measure were: Brown, Camp, Cox, Gibson, Pace, Peterson, Tarver and Vinson, while Welch paired for and Lesinsky, Michigan against. Ramspeck was the only Georgian voting against the bill.

Von Kleist's Rear Guard Tries Vainly To Stem Nazi Rout.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Field Marshal Ewald Von

Kleist's rear guard is attempting a desperate delaying action in the suburbs of Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov, while the main retreat of southern German armies continues toward Mariupol, 60 miles still farther to the west, the Moscow radio declared officially last night.

(International News Service reported early today from Kulybshev that Russia's victorious southern legions were battering their way into the port of Taganrog on the Sea of Azov with a continuous advance that swept broken German forces before it in a confused retreat of 100 miles from recaptured Rostov.)

Marshal von Kleist himself already had fled to Mariupol, it was added, and 40 more villages have fallen to the great Red counter-offensive. The Germans captured Mariupol, then Taganrog, in their October offensive.

Italians Give Up Quickly.

Two Italian divisions thrown into the battle east of Rostov in an effort to stem the Russian pursuit of the German army "hardly reached the battle lines before they began giving themselves up as prisoners," the Moscow radio announced.

"We continue the pursuit, launching fierce attacks right onto the backs of the fleeing enemy," the Soviet announcement said. "Tanks, lorries and carts litter the road to Mariupol."

"All attempts of the enemy to halt the advance of our troops have failed. The intense pressure of our units prevents the enemy from fortifying himself."

"At every cross-road the Germans are putting up signposts labeled 'to Mariupol.' The enemy is unable to take his equipment or tanks with him. Abandoning his equipment he tries to set fire to it all. All along the roads are burning tanks, lorries and carts."

Enormous Losses Claimed.

"The enemy is now attempting to by-pass the town of E to the southwest. Our artillery and mortar batteries are very active."

"The enemy is suffering enormous losses in men and equipment. Our guns are literally smoking the Germans out of one village."

Another and somewhat overshadowed Russian front sprang back into the forefront with the official claim by the Finns that Red troops and seamen were evacuating and destroying the Hango peninsula naval base, which they had won by lease after the war with Finland in 1939-40.

This represents a Red loss of considerable but not tremendous consequence—Hango being important to the defense of Leningrad, but on the other hand having been substantially isolated for some time.

Meanwhile, reports from Cairo said Britain's desert army, which still has an important card to play in the battle for Libya, reorganized its battered tank units for another push against General Erwin Rommel's re-formed armored divisions blocking the way to besieged Tobruk.

Lull on Both Sides.

Both sides were reported undergoing a refitting period, and this lull was broken only by the heavy explosives dropped on Axis lines by the RAF.

Here is the military picture as presented by the British:

The "important card" is a British

Leadon Skies Is Outlook For Atlanta Area Today

Atlantans may look forward to leadon skies and more unseasonably warm weather today. Weatherman Glen Jefferson said yesterday's temperature, ranging between 52 and 63 degrees, averaged 11 degrees above normal. Extremes for today will be near 50 and 65, he predicted. Rainfall yesterday totaled .58 inch, which is all the precipitation for this month and is .15 above normal. For the year the total is 27.42 inches, 16.48 below normal.

DOOR DID IT—Really, and it's not funny, says Jane Withers, of Atlanta and Hollywood. The young actress lost her footing on the set of "Not for Children" and struck her head against the edge of a door, inflicting a scalp wound and slight concussion. She is being kept in bed for several days before being allowed to continue work.

Serialization of Famed Novelist's Beautifully Told Story of Savior To Start Tuesday and Be Concluded Christmas Eve.

As a Christmas holiday feast for the spirit and as a fitting accompaniment to the season of cheer and worship, The Constitution will begin next Tuesday, December 9, serial publication of Charles Dickens' long-held manuscript, "The Life of Our Lord."

Arnall Renews Fight for Tech, WGST's Rights

Station Operator Claims Agreement Reached With Officials.

Attorney General Ellis Arnall began a new fight yesterday to protect rights of Georgia Tech and Radio Station WGST, and the Southern Broadcasting Stations, Inc., contended that an agreement between the company and some Georgia state education officials to continue that company as operator of WGST, owned by Tech, had been reached.

Counsel for the Governor before the FCC in Washington denied the agreement.

Arnall moved that he be authorized by the commission to supplant John E. McClure, of Washington, as chief of counsel for Tech and the radio station, contended such was his duty as attorney general of Georgia. As Arnall left Washington by plane to return to Georgia to keep pressing engagements, yesterday's motion was presented to the commission for him by McClure. The commissioner gave no ruling.

George Porter, of Washington, counsel for the broadcasting company, said the meeting of minds over the controversy was accomplished between company officials and a committee of the Georgia Board of Regents. He told an examiner for the federal communications commission:

"There was an absolute agreement, reduced to writing and signed by everybody concerned."

Investors Moan Over Treasury Curb on Bonds

Billion and Half Issue on Sale Today With Stiff Restrictions.

The government today is offering $1,500,000,000 worth of bonds for sale in the biggest single cash-borrowing operation since the World War.

That moan of anguish coming from financial circles emanates from the investors who yesterday read the new Treasury Department restrictions on the manner in which the public may subscribe.

There won't be as much "velvet" in the new issue as in the past, the treasury hopes, for the new rules limit the subscription of investors to amounts they reasonably can afford, and stresses the subscriber's agreement not to sell his subscription, or the securities allotted thereon, before the subscription books close.

Blocks Speculators.

Heretofore the individual investors who could raise the required 10 per cent cash deposit, has been able to enter a subscription for many times that amount. The issues thus have been heavily oversubscribed, and ordinarily have quickly advanced to a premium in the market.

The result was a prompt profit for the speculative investor, which the government in the current issue is sternly frowning upon.

Financial circles here said last night the treasury's insistence on subscription for investment only might affect the Atlanta area strongly, for it has subscribed to recent issues in many times its apparent financial resources.

The explanation was, they said, that word of the quick returns on government issues and the methods of obtaining them, seemed to have been more widely spread in this area than elsewhere.

Restrictions Listed.
The new restrictions limit banks and trust companies buying for their own account to a subscription not exceeding 50 per cent of their capital and surplus; limit mutual savings and co-operative banks, trust accounts and investment corporations, pension funds, insurance companies and similar institutions and funds to 10 per cent of their total resources, and

Goods Already Flowing to New Near East 'Ally'

Action Called Highly Significant in Light of African War.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—

President Roosevelt announced today that lease-lend coffers had been opened to Turkey, a far-reaching diplomatic coup designed to bar Hitler from a highroad to Suez, Iran, Iraq and the oil-rich Russian Caucasus.

Taking the capital and the world completely by surprise, the White House issued a one-sentence statement saying:

"The President announced that he had found the defense of Turkey vital to the defense of the United States and had directed Lend-Lease Administrator E. R. Stettinius Jr. to see that the defense needs of the government of Turkey were filled as fast as possible."

Steadfastly, the officials at the executive mansion refused to elaborate on this, but those in the know quickly reached the conclusion that the President must have Turkey was prepared to oppose received some assurances that any German incursion into her territory if she were given the means to do so.

Supplies Flow.

Authoritative quarters disclosed that the flow of supplies to Turkey started some time ago, through Britain. Howitzers and trucks comprise most of the shipments thus far, but it is expected that future shipments will include everything from tanks and planes to uniforms and shoes.

The United States makes its lend-lease program, for which $12,985,000,000 already has been appropriated, available only to nations determined to fight "aggression." In fact Turkey is the first nation not actually engaged in fighting which has been accorded the benefits of the fund, except Latin American powers.

The President's move, fraught with incalculable consequences for the future of the war in the Mediterranean and elsewhere, came at a time when the United States was awaiting a reply from Japan to an American statement of policy regarding the Far East and to a pointed query from Mr. Roosevelt as to what Tokyo means by concentrating troops in French Indo-China.

How Japan Plots Course.

The timing was regarded as highly significant here in that there is more than a suspicion in well-informed quarters that Japan plots her course with one eye on Hitler's fortunes. Inasmuch as Hitler has already suffered a resounding reverse before Rostov, one gateway to the Caucasus, the erection of a barrier at another gateway was believed calculated to make Japan stop, look and listen.

(However, officials here were not banking on the move having that effect. See story on page 15.)

If the lease-lend assistance to Turkey actually converts that country into a barrier to Germany's aspirations, it will be a stunning defeat for Nazi diplomacy. Count Franz von Papen, who was ejected from Washington during the World War because he was suspected of plotting against American neutrality, has been laboring with all the devices at his disposal to swing the Ankara government over to the Axis side.

(Huge Stakes in U. S. Plans to Aid Turkey. Story on Page 15.)

Want Recipe for Whiskey? See Posters Seeking to Curb 'Shine

"Sugar . . . the Lifeblood of Illicit Distilling—Keep Sugar Out of Bootleggers' Hands."

That's the plea of the alcohol tax unit in a new poster campaign launched in Georgia yesterday to combat the moonshiner by cutting off his supply of raw materials. But the posters, which are being displayed on warehouse walls and wherever sugar is sold, may prove to be a little more educational than the Treasury Department intended. They carry a recipe for whiskey. The recipe calls for one 100-pound bag of sugar to each 100 gallons of mash, with the addition "in some instances" of yeast, malt, rye or corn meal. "On distillation," concludes the poster, "such mash may be expected to produce about 10 gallons of whiskey."

The serious purpose of the campaign, as outlined yesterday by Raleigh R. Wall, assistant district supervisor, is to get across to the public the fact that since the federal tax on a gallon of whiskey is $4, each bag of sugar used by bootleggers represents a loss to the government and to the taxpayers of $40.

DeKalb Jurors Convict Hurt, Urge Bonds To Guard 'Fired' Build New Jail At Robertstown

Group Terms Present Lockup 'a Disgrace to Any County.'

A $300,000 bond issue to build a new jail for DeKalb county and make additions to the courthouse was recommended yesterday by the December term grand jury of that county, which suggested itself as a bond committee and voted to ask the help of the three past juries in backing the issue. The present jury is "a disgrace to any county," the body reported. It also pointed out that the rent being paid for county offices "scattered over Decatur" will go far toward paying for additions to two wings of the courthouse. The bond issue could be floated out of present revenue without additional taxes, because the county was said to be in "splendid" financial condition.

Salary Now Limited.

The jury also recommended "proper authorities" see to it that the tax commissioner of the county not be allowed to receive more than $5,000 a year in salary and fees, and $100 a year for automobile expenses. The tax commissioner has hitherto received "from $15,000 to $20,000 a year" in fees, it was reported. Legislative action this year limited the salary of that office to $5,000. Homer H. Howard is present commissioner.

A $10-a-month increase in salary was asked for all DeKalb county policemen, beginning January 1. It was also urged that Druid Hills firemen be paid not less than $90 a month, and a raise was urged for county teachers, but no amount was specified. Erection of a monument at Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children, in honor of the late Forrest Asair, founder of the institution, was recommended. The jury praised Adair's work and that of his brother, George Adair, in building up the Druid Hills section of the county.

"Prosperity" Comment.

A bronze plaque in honor of Commissioner Scott Candler was also urged, to be placed at the new waterworks, which Candler helped to obtain for the county. The December term body noted a "great building and expansion program" in DeKalb.

"Prosperity is not just around the corner; it's here," the presentments said. Praise was given the DeKalb County Clinic, the Methodist Children's Home, Emory University hospital, the Stone Mountain Convalescent Home, which was said to be in "better condition than in the past," and the Fulton-DeKalb Hospital Authority. The jury reported DeKalb has "one of the best police forces anywhere," and praised Clerk George Jackson and Chief J. T. Dailey, by name. It also urged that two-way radios be put in all county police cars. The body voted to ask local legislators to prepare a bill increasing the tax levy on intangibles from one to three mills.

Urge "Good" Lockup.

Adding a humorous note in connection with the bond issue for the new jail, it was said: "For a rich county like DeKalb, with all its vast expansion program, to have a jail like we now have, can never be satisfactorily explained—and almost anyone is liable to get locked up now. So keep your license in your pocket and drive carefully. If we are unfortunate enough to be locked up, we ought to have a good place to be locked up in." J. L. McCord was foreman and George A. Cole was secretary of the December jury.

Pet Cemetery Permit Granted

A permit for the first cemetery for pets in the south was granted yesterday by the Fulton County board of commissioners to Robert L. S. Bickford on condition that perpetual care for the place be provided and it not be used for any other purpose. The cemetery will be on a 25-acre plot between Payne and Proctor roads, near Bolton, and the operating company will be known as Pet Haven, Inc. Only objection to the project was made by F. S. Evans, who said he owned property near the proposed cemetery, and that the cemetery also was near Hollywood cemetery, where members of his family are buried.

Draft Officials To 'Tighten Up' On Registrants Here

On December 4, 1940, a year ago today, 25-year-old Clyde Odell Brown, of R. F. D. No. 3, in Heard county, was inducted into the Army at Fort McPherson—the first draftee from Georgia during World War II.

288 Soldiers To Win Release December 10

192 Are From Middle and South Georgia Towns.

Tanned and toughened by a year in the Army, the last few months of which they spent in the field, 288 Georgia soldiers will return to their homes and jobs on December 10, honorably discharged because of age.

One hundred and ninety-two of them will be boys from middle and south Georgia towns, released from the 121st Infantry, the old Gray Bonnet National Guard regiment recently transferred from the 30th Division to the Eighth Division to replace a regiment of regulars, the 34th Infantry, which has been ordered on foreign service.

The remaining 96 men are members of the 118th Field Artillery of Savannah, a component of the 30th Division.

In all 1,749 men will be discharged from the 30th Division on December 10, with 1,746 others slated for discharge by March 1, according to authorities at Fort Jackson, S. C., home station of the 30th.

From the Eighth Division a total of 1,869 men will be released.

Discharges, plus the transfer of the 121st Infantry, will bring the strength of the 30th Division, commanded by Major General Henry Russell, of Macon, from 17,000 men in the early fall to a present roster of 9,000. The losses will be offset in part by 1,355 new enlistees.

They will begin new two-year terms on January 1.

Jurors Suggest Mrs. Young, 79, Disbarment of Dies Here After Al Smith Jr. Long Illness

'Happy Warrior's' Son Accused on Charges of Malpractice.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—(P)—A special grand jury today handed up a presentment to justices of the appellate division of the state supreme court calling for the disbarment of Alfred E. Smith Jr., son of the former Governor of New York, on 11 specific charges of malpractice.

The presentment said: "From the evidence, the grand jury are of the opinion that Alfred E. Smith Jr. has committed acts of professional misconduct, fraud, deceit, crime and misdemeanor, and conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice which render him unfit to remain an attorney and counselor-at-law in the state of New York."

The presentment charged that Smith accepted sums of money in 11 separate instances to conspire with various individuals and to obstruct the enforcement of the state alcoholic beverage control law and otherwise abuse his position as a lawyer.

Since then, 18,075 other Georgians have answered Uncle Sam's call to the colors.

Still another 4,100 are now in class "I-A" awaiting induction in draft calls that already have been received to provide for them.

"Tighten Up" Move.
As a result, selective service officials yesterday announced a move to "tighten up" on registrants in all classes in order to get men for future calls. More than 90 per cent of the total registration already has been classified, so those in "I-A" represent all the men available without reclassifications.

Boards will be asked to re-examine registrants in class "I-B" (deferred for minor physical defects) and to reconsider some 19,000 single men deferred on claims they had dependents, Colonel H. Cliff Hatcher, assistant state director for selective service, said.

There also is a possibility some illiterates, hitherto ruled out, will be accepted now that the Army's "growing pains" are over, it was said.

Rehabilitation Plan.
A rehabilitation plan, whereby men with remedial physical defects can be treated by doctors and dentists at government expense also will begin after December 1, and is expected to furnish thousands of men who have previously been disqualified.

Looking back over a year of induction, Colonel Hatcher said yesterday that fewer Georgia registrants have been found available for service than officials first expected—chiefly because of physical disqualification, it was said.

Colonel Hatcher thinks that "fast living" is responsible for much of the poor health of young Georgians.

"The number of 21-year-old registrants who are physically unfit is appalling," he said.

High Rejection Rate.

Of all registrants sent to the Army for induction, 20 per cent of the white men and 28 per cent of the Negroes have been disqualified after being approved by their local board doctor, it was reported in the office of Colonel James H. Skelton, of the manpower division.

However, a new arrangement, whereby the registrant is examined at the induction station rather than by local board doctors is expected to remedy the high number of rejections at Army centers.

Widow of Zeno F. Young, Newspaper Editor of Kentucky.

Mrs. Jessie Turner Young, 79, died yesterday at her residence, 631 Myrtle street, N. E., after a long illness.

Born in Virden, Ill., she was the widow of Zeno F. Young, newspaper editor of Madisonville, Ky. She had lived in Atlanta for the past 30 years.

Mrs. Young was a charter member of Peachtree Christian church. She is survived by three daughters, Miss Bessie Young, Miss Gladys Young and Mrs. Josephine Hicks; a son, Rodman A. Young; a sister, Mrs. Anabel Burritt, of Miami Beach, Fla.; four grandchildren, Mrs. William Tharin, Greensboro, N. C.; William Turner Young, of Panama Canal Zone; James R. Young, of San Francisco, Cal.; and Robert Hicks Jr., a niece, Mrs. Actina Turner Williams, of Tampa, Fla., and a nephew, Kenneth Burritt, of Miami Beach, Fla.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill, with Dr. Robert W. Burns officiating. Burial will be in Crest Lawn cemetery.

Goodwin Demotes Villa Rica Officer

A State Patrol corporal, C. A. Goins, was demoted and transferred from Villa Rica to Griffin yesterday by Commissioner of Public Safety John E. Goodwin, who charged a "speed racket" was operated in Carroll county by patrolmen.

Goins had been in charge of the Villa Rica station. He was demoted to a trooper, and will be replaced by Trooper P. C. Peacock, formerly of Griffin, who has been made a corporal.

Major Goodwin said troopers had been making speeding cases in that county and trying them before the mayor's court at Villa Rica and that some of those arrested had complained. The cases should have been tried at the county seat, he said.

OHIO TREE MAN—Former Governor Martin L. Davey, of Ohio, said here yesterday that the majority of the people in his state were solidly behind the President's foreign policy. Recovering from a heart attack, the youthful-looking tree surgeon and "elder statesman" is en route to Florida for the winter.

Ohio Is Behind Foreign Policy, Former Governor of State Says

By HAROLD MARTIN.

The state of Ohio is always a pivotal state, and in national elections it is very hard to figure out, whether it is going to swing to the Democratic or Republican party.

At the moment, though, according to a man who once was Ohio's governor, anybody can know how Ohio stands. Ohio is for the President and his foreign policy, whatever you hear of isolationist sentiment prevailing largely in the mid-West does not apply to that state.

Opposed to War.
"At least two-thirds of the people," said former Governor Martin L. Davey here yesterday, "are solidly behind the President in the way he's running things. They don't want this country to have to go to war, of course. But they are willing to go on down the road we are going, hoping for the best, but ready for the worst if it comes."

The former Governor is in Atlanta for a few days, breaking his trip to Florida because he has to take things easy since he had a heart attack last February.

He was in politics from 1912 to 1940, and in that time made 26 races and won all of them but five, which is a pretty good record for a politician, a prize-fighter, or a race horse.

Politics Was Hobby.
As a matter of fact Mr. Davey was not what we have come to understand as a politician. He did not depend upon politics for a living. It was a hobby with him. And on those rare occasions when he was beaten he went back to his regular job, which was the doctoring and nursing of sick trees, and the feeding of proper nutriment to undernourished shrubs.

He knew a few tricks, though, which he recalls with as much gusto as a man can muster who has to be careful about his heart.

There was the time when he, as a young man of 34, ran for congress against a dignified old gentleman named Senator Charles W. F. Dick. Senator Dick was a Republican, and a distinguished character. Mr. Davey bore no laurels except those accruing to a man who had three times been mayor of the city of Kent, Ohio.

Campaign Trick.
This was in 1918, and Mr. Davey went back to the year 1898, when his distinguished foe had made a speech, urging the election of a Republican congress to aid President McKinley in concluding a peace with Spain.

Mr. Davey took this speech, changed the word Republican to "Democrat," McKinley to "Wilson" and Spain to "Germany." Then he lifted the rest of Senator Dick's speech bodily, and had it published as one he had delivered.

The senator shook his mane and roared. He took his young opponent severely to task for introducing partisanship into the race. He made a big fuss and tore the speech to tatters with his criticism.

Then young Davey had the two speeches published side by side, and the state of Ohio laughed the senator right out of the race and his young foe into office.

The Governor is through will all that now. He is taking things easy on account of his heart and all he has to worry about at the moment is when one of his surgeons falls out of a tree.

Moore Draws $500 Fine for Striking Auld Library Group

Former Baseball Pitcher Convicted of Striking Draft Board Head.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 5.—(P)—Convicted in federal court today of striking a Selective Service Board chairman, former big league baseball pitcher William Austin (Cy) Moore, posted a $1,000 bond pending his appeal from a $500 fine imposed by Judge Bascom S. Deaver.

In sentencing Moore, Judge Deaver read a letter from the Elbert county chairman, Fred W. Auld, asking that the sentence be light and stating he felt no malice toward the man.

During the trial, Moore, who once pitched for the Brooklyn Dodgers, admitted striking Auld. He said his action was prompted by insinuations that his father and mother had falsified records as to their dependency on him for support.

Federal court officials said as far as they knew, the case was the first of its kind since adoption of the military service law. The act provides a maximum jail sentence of five years and fine of $10,000 for conviction of "hindering or interfering by violence" in its administration.

Vesta Kelling, 40, Writer, Is Killed

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—(P)—Vesta Kelling, 40, feature writer for Wide World, Associated Press supplementary news service, was killed early today in an accidental gas explosion in her East Side apartment, approximately 24 hours after her former husband died in Lisbon while en route to the United States.

Miss Kelling's former husband, Lieutenant Colonel Charles M. Cummings, 49, an Air Corps attaché at the United States embassy in London, was believed to have died of a heart attack, but an autopsy will be performed in Lisbon tomorrow or Friday.

Georgia Town, Crawfordville, Seeks Industry

Boll Weevil-Ravaged Community Wants To Thrive as in Past.

Crawfordville in Taliaferro county, home of Alexander H. Stephens and center of gentility and wealth until the boll weevil ate up everything but the genteel tradition, yesterday had started back along the economic road.

Crawfordville has organized a Chamber of Commerce, with an industrial and agricultural committee, and if things work out the boll weevil can take Taliaferro county's cotton and go to Tophet with it.

Crawfordville, without a mill or factory, is going out after some industry. Crawfordville wants to see some factory smoke. Crawfordville, with plenty of bright young people, anxious to work, wants to train some skilled workers and find them jobs to do. Crawfordville wants to raise something besides cotton.

A delegation came to town yesterday to see how Atlanta went about getting industries to come in. It was headed by Dr. T. E. Portwood, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and it included Osgood Williams, secretary-treasurer; Paul Ellington, chairman of the industrial committee, and Ralph Galucke, a member of the committee.

They talked with Frank Carter, president of the Atlanta Chamber; W. R. Ulrich, secretary; E. S. Papy, chairman of the industrial bureau; Marshall Bowie and C. C. Trawick, industrial agents of the Georgia railroad, which runs through Crawfordville; C. H. Bishop and Frank Shaw, of the Atlanta Chamber industrial bureau.

They talked about shoe and glove and dress factories, sweet potato plants for processing potatoes into cow-feed, canning plants, refrigeration plants, fruit juice preservation plants, beef cattle raising, dairying, butter, egg and milk production.

Somewhere in the list they hope to find something that Taliaferro county can raise or make, so the boll weevil can go on about his business of starving to death in a cotton county where cotton does not grow any more.

Sam Martin Named Quartet President

Sam Martin was elected president of the Atlanta chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., at a meeting of the group last night in the Robert Fulton hotel.

Other officers chosen included Warren Bearden, Lambdin Kay, Dr. R. Copeland and H. R. Burford, vice presidents; Judy Harmon, music director; Ralph Crutchfield, secretary; R. H. Sturges, treasurer, and J. D. Edens, sergeant-at-arms.

Kentucky Soldier Hurt Near Gainesville

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
GAINESVILLE, Ga., Dec. 3.—Private Paul B. Pedigo, about 22, of Fort Knox, Ky., suffered a compound fracture of his left hip and a fractured right arm, early today when he fell from his motorcycle en route with other Army forces from the Carolina maneuvers back to Fort Knox, according to hospital attaches here.

Pedigo said he did not know exactly how the accident happened. He told hospital attaches that he was either dodging another automobile, which struck him, or his own machine skidded from under him. The accident occurred near Gainesville. Pedigo's condition was reported as satisfactory.

Brazil Is Reinforcing Forces Nearest Dakar

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(P)—Brazil is reinforcing its armored forces in the northeast section where South America bulges toward closely watched Dakar, on the French West African coast, Brigadier General Newton Cavalcanti, chief of Brazil's mechanized forces, disclosed today.

The general, invited to the United States by the War Department, told interviewers Brazil is now expanding its tank, armored car and "jeep" units and is organizing a mechanized force at Recife. Many sources consider Recife the logical spot for any attempted invasion of the Western Hemisphere.

MOROLINE
WHITE PETROLEUM JELLY
FOR MINOR BURNS

DON'T DO THAT!—Miss Margaret Hamma, new 1941 world's champion typist, cautions pretty Miss O'Leta Dunn, Atlanta stenographer, not to do all the wrong things Miss Dunn is doing in the photograph above. Things like taking off a shoe, chewing gum during working hours, and slouching over the typewriter.

1941 World's Champion Typist Shows Atlanta How It's Done

By CELESTINE SIBLEY.

Them bums, the Brooklyn Dodgers, have been vindicated.

A plump, brown-eyed girl did it. She couldn't cop the coveted World Series for them but Margaret Hamma, a loyal daughter of Brooklyn, worked 10 nicely manicured fingers virtually to the bone getting another world's championship for her favorite borough.

She is the new 1941 world's champion typist, which is a brief way of saying that she is the world's professional typing champion, the women's professional typing champion, and the world's amateur typing champion.

And what Miss Hamma can—and did do to an electric typewriter at a demonstration before the Atlanta Business and Professional Women's Club last night—shouldn't happen to a mowing machine. Without so much as a flick of the wrist she plays a modern symphony on her black-and-white keyboard—and it matters not that the lyrics are no more romantic than "Please remit."

Miss Hamma, who wears a curl on top of her head and a RAF insignia at her throat, came to Atlanta to show other working girls and prospective stenographers in the city's business and high schools how easy it is to bat out 149 words a minute for an hour. Or, for period of less than an hour, she can type 150 words a minute while she recites the alphabet backward, works mental arithmetic problems or answers questions about her work.

Ideas on Foot Positions. Not that Miss Hamma recommends reciting the alphabet backward while the boss is looking or even strapping glasses of water to your wrist to show that you are typing without moving your hands. The first woman to hold the world's typing championship in 25 years has pretty definite ideas about how a young woman should conduct herself in an office. She wouldn't be caught dead with her feet hooked around her chair.

"Feet on the floor," she says firmly. "And if you sit up straight you'll find you're more comfortable."

If your feet hurt and you want to ease them out of your shoes—well, that's up to you and your own ideas about office and typing decorum. Personally, Miss Hamma would just as soon be photographed chewing gum—and she emphatically would not be caught that way. She can see your point of view if you like gum, but she still says with quiet precision: "I wouldn't do it."

Off for Warm Springs. From Atlanta, the young woman who started out last June to win the amateur championship and just kept typing at the rate of 13 keystrokes a second until she had won all the championships in the book, is going to Warm Springs.

Her mission there is not particularly to interest people in the electromagnetic typewriter, which she does on, but to entertain the convalescent youngsters with her stunts.

Miss Hamma doesn't like to look beyond the championship tour which she is taking as a representative of the International Business Machines Company.

"I'm having too much fun and the tour is going on for sometime—I hope."

House Group Okays 8 Billion More for Defense Aid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A supplemental $8,443,839,031 defense appropriation, including funds at least to double the nation's output of arms in a major bid for supremacy over the Axis, won approval today of the House Appropriations Committee.

House leaders expected that the measure would pass by nightfall Friday. It would raise the total cash and contractual authority provided for defense and the lend-lease program since July 1, 1940, to $67,990,254,096.

The committee earmarked $1,556,496,246 specifically for the lend-lease program, for which $12,985,000,000 already had been provided, and recommended that the War Department be authorized to use up to $500,000,000 of the remainder for that purpose.

The War Department wanted authority to transfer on a lend-lease basis any equipment procured with funds appropriated since March 11.

In requesting broader power, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, commented:

"It is essential that these types of weapons be produced in large quantities if the necessary superiority of force is to be obtained over the Axis powers. The question as to the nationality of those who use the weapon seems of relatively lesser importance than is the imperative requirement that they be immediately produced for such use."

Only $78,000,000 of the bill's total was specifically allotted for aid to Russia, but General Marshall said his "urgent advice" would be that as long as American ground forces are not involved in war, "many of the tanks for the production of which funds are requested might well be diverted in order to assist the Russian Army to remain on its feet."

The Messerschmitt left shortly before midnight for Augusta, where it will be on exhibition the rest of this week.

U. S. Adds 189 Names To Trade Blacklist

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(P)—The United States today added 189 names to its blacklist of individuals and firms in South and Central America alleged to be acting for the benefit of Germany or Italy.

More than 2,000 individuals and firms already were on the blacklist, which prevents them from securing goods from the United States and freezes any funds they may have in this country.

Light Keeper Killed as Mine Floats Ashore

Trio Remains at Post as Deadly Machine Blasts Tower.

DUBLIN, Dec. 3.—(P)—Tuskar Light is a 110-foot structure on a pinpoint of rock in St. George's channel, six miles off the south-east tip of Eire.

As the beams of the light swept the dark seas, one of the three keepers spied a globular floating object. With each toss of the waves it drifted a little nearer to Tuskar rock. With quickened pulses, the men realized that it was a stray mine.

For two hours they watched in fascination as it washed inexorably closer and closer, now wallowing in the trough, now surging on the crest, but closing up the gap, inch by breathless inch.

As is the custom with lighthouse keepers, they were marooned in their tower. They could only wait and stare—and tend the light.

Ashore at Rossare, harbormen saw a blinding flash out at sea and heard a rumbling explosion.

They put out in a lifeboat. In the kitchen of Tuskar Light they found Peeper Patrick Scanlon dying of injuries. Keeper William Cahill covered by the debris of walls, ceiling and furniture, but otherwise unhurt.

Upstairs, beside the light, lay Keeper Peter Roddy, knocked out by the great stones and torrent of water hurled up to his aerie by the explosion.

Tuskar light still shone.

'Temper Action,' 2 Georgia Students Ask College Group

Two students in the University System of Georgia pleaded for temperate disciplinary action yesterday before the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at Louisville, Ky.

Miss Frances Lindfors, a soft-voiced, tall brunet, and Roy Sanders, both from the University of Georgia, flew to the Kentucky city to urge that any disciplinary action that might be taken against the Georgia school system because of alleged political interference by the Governor be tempered.

Pretty Miss Lindfors, of Gainesville, Ga., a senior at the University at Athens, and Sanders, of Atlanta, a junior, pleaded before the committee that the 13,685 students in the university system not be penalized because of the actions of the politicians of the state.

Neither Miss Lindfors nor Sanders asked that the Georgia school system be exonerated completely of the charges but that disciplinary action, if any, taken by the association be tempered.

The association has the power to drop the Georgia system from its accredited list, or it may suspend the group or place the system on probation.

Unalarmed, Miss Lindfors and Sanders, both members of the executive committee of the student body at Athens, flew into Louisville to "present to the association the feelings of the students in the Georgia schools," they said.

Sanders said their trip was financed by money raised among the students at Georgia.

The University of Georgia junior said neither he nor Miss Lindfors expressed approval or disapproval of the action of the Governor in forcing the Board of Regents of the University System to discharge teachers, but asked the accrediting group to consider the plight of the students of Georgia if they should be dropped from the association.

Miss Lindfors and Sanders appeared before a special meeting of the commission on higher education a few minutes before the commission met with the executive committee of the association for a final decision on Georgia.

The committee's recommendations will be submitted to the entire association this afternoon for final action. Observers said that heretofore recommendations of the executive committee had been approved by the entire convention.

The Georgia case occupied the attention generally of the 500 delegates in Louisville for the 46th meeting, but the educators as a whole declined to express any opinion on the matter pending action by the executive committee.

The association today will hold the first full session since convening Monday. Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, senior United States senator from Kentucky, and Mark Ethridge, general manager of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, are scheduled to speak.

Later, new officers will be elected, and then President Rufus Harris, of Tulane University, New Orleans, will present to the association the recommendations of the executive committee on Georgia.

Pert and shapely little Carol Bruce turned up in Atlanta yesterday as the regular 20th century Cinderella girl—in reverse.

Carol rode a rattling old steam train into Atlanta two and a half years ago—unheralded and unnoticed. She played a singing spot for a week at the Roxy theater. But nobody remembers. The star was Monte Blue.

Yesterday she arrived again, this time amid all the fanfare of Hollywood press agency aboard a sleek and shining airplane. In the interim Carol has been discovered. She starred in the musical comedy, "Louisiana Purchase," on Broadway, crashed the cover of Life magazine and won a movie contract with Universal Pictures.

Remembers Soda Clerk.

But though Atlanta failed to remember seeing the little Cinderella Girl-in-the-making, 22-year-old Carol remembers Peachtree street, even to the soda clerk in the drugstore next door to the theater.

And for the last two days in New York she's been thinking primarily of southern cooking, Atlanta cooking—especially those side dishes.

"Fried chicken is all right—but those side dishes you people have—yams, pickled peaches, fried onions, hot biscuits and butter, yams." And the shapely little mouth was twisted into an expression of ecstasy.

Carol hadn't been in the suite at the Henry Grady hotel more than 15 minutes before she had a call in to Steward Cecil Cawthon for a rush order of those "side dishes." He rushed them up under personal supervision. Slight of build, a dainty morsel herself, Carol apparently had no fears of fattening southern cooking. She bit into the chicken with a vengeance. "I'm the athletic type."

Poses for Pictures.

Then she posed for pictures. She dropped Photographer Bill Wilson one of those smiles that have hard-boiled photographers dropping flash bulbs, when Bill suggested getting one of those glamorous dressing gown, bedroom shots.

"Getting down to the robe," she sighed. "I'm getting closer to that rest."

Carol is what the southerner would describe as a "cute little trick." Dark of complexion with brownish hair and blue eyes.

Romance? She's waiting to be swept off her feet. But the man's got to live near home.

"I've had two special delivery romances—one of them broke up happily because I was too young. The other—well it will take a lot of those things. Unhappily all those men I've liked haven't always liked me."

Which honestly was hard to believe.

Favors Marrying Young.

"Being in Hollywood most of the time now, it's just as well I don't have a great love. I've even thought it would be wise to marry someone in the profession. The man I marry must be able to take the side-show atmosphere."

Carol gave herself two years in which to be swept off her feet. "Then," she added, "I will take a calmer view on romance. I want to marry young."

Mike Spector has been a big help in Carol Bruce's career. He's her agent and together they have planned the tricks that have brought Carol to the limelight with her talents for singing and looks. Carol Bruce—that's just a stage name—was born in New York, which made her a "foreigner" in show business. Her parents had money, but lost it. At 14, Carol went to work. Mike SOUTHERN SIDE DISHES—Carol has been putting up with New York cooking for the last two days, anticipating a "swell meal of side dishes" in Atlanta. She got 'em right off. That's her biting into a chicken leg only 15 minutes after arrival in her hotel suite. "Chicken's all right—but those pickled peaches, fried onions, hot biscuits and yams—they're what I really want." Carol's enthusiasm had her manager hungry hours before dinner time as she talked about the good things she wanted to eat.

OBJECT FOR A SWEEPING ROMANCE—Carol Bruce, though only 22, fears being a bachelor girl. She's waiting for a dashing Prince Charming to sweep her off her feet. If she's still on them—and they're dainty, too—she admits "I'll have to take a calmer view of romance." Confidentially, she's just like any other girl. When romance comes, she'll take it calm or sweeping, she disclosed in an interview.

found her modeling in small shops. He started her on the stage career that was climaxed with a lead role in "Louisiana Purchase."

Had Only One Flop.

Strangely enough, her only flop was a play with Mary Martin and Bert Woolsey called "Nice Going." It failed to open on Broadway.

Carol is on a good-will tour now—to meet the movie public. She'll make personal appearances at the Fox theater today and tomorrow after a night of rest in the presidential suite at the Grady last night.

Told by the proud manager, Jim Page, that she was to sleep on the bed Mrs. Roosevelt slept on, Carol took her fried chicken and spiced pickles and flopped on the bed. "Me and Eleanor," she sighed. "We have great intellects in common."

Georgia Girl Wins In Dress Contest

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Thirty-nine award-winning 4-H girls demonstrated before more than 1,600 fellow club members and adult leaders tonight how rural Misses can make dollars go a long way in the designing and making of their own stylish clothes.

Judges who passed on the girls' work classified the dresses into blue, red, and white award groups. The white group awards included: Best dress or ensemble, including dress—Jacqueline Warren, of Montezuma, Ga., and Edna White, R-1 Claremont, N. H.

life of Jesus, it neither exhorts nor pleads, but simply places the compelling example of Christ's own life before the reader—as an end in itself more than as a theological conception.

From the very first paragraph, when Dickens explains to his children his reasons for this labor of devotion, on through to the last chapters of His brief life, this simple childlike story of the New Testament demonstrates the devotion which Dickens felt himself and shows the devotion which he wanted his children—and all people—to carry in their hearts throughout their lives.

Readers of The Constitution are urged to be sure that they and all their families miss not a single chapter in "The Life of Our Lord"—for its timely message to the souls of men, as well as for its remarkable literary beauty. Remember the date! It begins next Tuesday, December 9, and will run every day, except Sunday, through the issue of December 24.

'America First' Called Jap Ally

honest Americans. But what has the America First Committee done—and done right at this moment, the most crucial moment in the enormously important negotiations with Japan?

It has begun blackmailing our representatives and senators with the threat that they will not be re-elected unless at this moment they play the Axis game. They are threatening the country with a divided congress, which could paralyze either legislative or executive authority, lose us the war and lose us the peace. And, of course, as we all have predicted, they are rushing support to Fascism under an anti-Fascist slogan!

In the whole diplomatic game, the America First Committee has been the only ace in the hole for the Axis. It has come through bravely for them. And everything it is doing—the work of the Black "Mothers," undermining the morale of the Navy; the introduction of the 1942 elections into the diplomatic negotiations—is played by the Axis to undermine the morale of Petain and of Chiang Kai-shek, and creates in Tokyo the false impression that Japan can risk war with us. The America Firsters help therefore to bring Japan into the war and, if they should succeed, they would help us to lose the war by the only way we could lose it—disunity in the country.

Perhaps that same tactic—dividing China from her Pacific allies—was Japan's only hope of making war. We don't know. But there has not been another Munich in Washington.

The Axis politicians wanted a fourth card, and a fourth hope, and that concerned American domestic politics. They hoped, first, that they could bring about a cleavage between American government and the American people, repeating again the French experience. What they wanted was either a labor victory by strike, or a labor defeat by repressive anti-labor legislation. Either eventually would please them equally, for they are not interested in one side or the other; they are only interested in disunity.

The President saw this game and he avoided it. And congress, we trust, will be as wise as he. But the Axis politicians had a fifth hope, and that was the Fifth Column, and here, to our eternal shame, it must be recorded that they have had a diplomatic success. When the army of General von Kietel let the Axis down before Rostov; when the army of General Rommel failed to rescue the Axis in Libya; when the President refused to drive China into the Japanese trap; when American labor did not stop production, and the American army did not march out against American workers—even when Petain became a little coy—then the America First Committee rushed to the assistance of the Axis with a couple of diplomatic panzer divisions. I am not happy to say this, because I still want a negotiated peace inside America, between all

John Townley Named Fulton Tax Assessor

Coal Company Credit Manager Elected by County Board.

John Townley, former assistant city purchasing agent and now credit manager of the Randall Brothers Coal Company, was elected a member of the Fulton county board of tax assessors yesterday by the board of county commissioners.

Townley will take the place of Homer Gullett, whose term expires December 31. The position pays $300 per month.

Townley's name was proposed by Commissioner E. L. Almond and the vote in his favor was 3 to 2. Almond said several other candidates had approached him about the position. They included Ed Aiken, A. L. Holcombe, George Campbell and Jim Dooley.

ATLANTA, GA., DECEMBER 4, 1941.

The Direct Approach

President Roosevelt has asked of the government of Japan a direct and simple question and has requested a direct and simple answer, without equivocation or circumlocution.

That question is, what is the purpose of the concentration of Japanese troops in Indo-China? Upon Tokyo's answer to that question rests the issue of peace or war in the Pacific.

It may come as somewhat of a shock to the urbane diplomats of Japan, to be asked, so frankly and directly, such a question as this. It may smack of "American crudity," for they are used to a combination of urbane words and suave politeness, on the one hand, and utterly contradictory actions on the other.

But the frank, open and honest way is the American way. It is the best way. It cuts through subterfuge and chicanery and leaves no doubt, either at the time or when later effects develop, as to the position of this country.

Japan's war-like actions in Indo-China constitute the meat in the coconut of the involved diplomacy of the Eastern situation. This country has stated, if Japan would remain a friendly power, she must abandon all thought of further aggression in the East and must give suitable guarantees that she will cease her expansionist campaigns.

Japan has been willing to discuss this, has, in fact, taken part in long-drawn "conversations" on the subject but, even while these exchanges were taking place, has steadily pursued her aggressive military policy. It was in the midst of such a talk, for instance, that Tokyo forced the helpless Vichy government to agree to the presence, in Indo-China, of a given number of Japanese troops.

Now, during the crucial days of the past two weeks, Japan has heavily reinforced those troops, far exceeding the number permitted under the Vichy agreement and is continuing to mass men and planes and tanks and guns along the Thailand border.

An attack across Thailand would be a direct menace to the Burma road, China's lifeline of supply and would likewise be a threat to British Malaya and the Singapore peninsula.

The President's question has placed Japan in position where she must either explain, and cease, these threatening military operations, or deliberately end all hope of continued peace with America and Great Britain.

A Washington observer recently commented that all Special Envoy Kurosu had brought to Washington, in the cause of peace, was politeness. Evidently our government has grown weary of politeness that means nothing and is placing future negotiations in the realm of stern realism.

Among characters of the week is a New Jersey citizen of 90 who never sleeps. It must discourage the mosquitoes.

Wise Advice

Now comes that blessed time of year—Christmas—and with it happiness and joy. But too often the gay holiday season turns to one of tragedy because of fire, one of man's greatest blessings and one of man's worst enemies. So it is well to keep in mind the simple rules issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Just a few precautions that can be taken by anyone—and with dividends.

Pointing out that most home fires occur in late fall and winter months, the board warns that chimneys, stoves and furnaces be kept clean and in good repair. It also stressed that ashes should be emptied into metal containers, never wooden or cardboard ones. High on the list also is the common-sense advice never to force a heating plant in cold weather, but to call a heating expert. There's wisdom, too, in the admonition to disconnect electrical appliances, even if they are to be left for only a few minutes, and to use only approved electrical equipment.

It is not difficult to follow these simple rules. Certainly it is extremely worth while, not only from the purely selfish standpoint, but from the standpoint of national defense. After all, homes are too scarce in these energetic days to allow any of them to go up in smoke through carelessness.

A Nation Arms

Calling on Britain for 3,000,000 more military conscripts, Prime Minister Winston Churchill on Tuesday told the house of commons the "crisis of equipment" is practically over for his country and that the new crisis in progress of the war will be a "crisis of manpower and womanpower."

Churchill asked for extension of the age limits for military service for men to 18½ to 50 years. The present limits are 19 to 41. He also asked for drafting of all unmarried women between the ages of 20 and 30 for service in civil defense or the women's auxiliary units of the armed forces. He also proposes registration of boys and girls from 16 to 18 years of age and encouragement for them to find proper places in the national service.

Such a program is startling in its completeness and even more startling in its hints for the future. For instance, Churchill said that the exemption of married women from the proposed draft was only for the time being. And he hinted at future calls for men above 50, when he mentioned that 57 was the age limit during the first World War.

The picture drawn by the British leader is a picture of a nation utterly and completely enlisted in the war effort. It is a picture of a Britain utterly determined to fight through to victory, regardless of cost. It is a picture of a Britain refusing, for all time, that false but ancient canard that "Britain is willing to fight to the last Frenchman."

Britain is showing the world, today, she is willing to fight for a cause she considers righteous, willing to fight for her own survival, not only to the last Englishman, but to the last Englishwoman.

It is encouraging that the "crisis of equipment" is over. That means, from now on, British forces will enjoy mechanical equipment equal, or superior, to that of their foes. It means Britain has so increased her productive capacity for planes and guns and tanks and all other requirements of war, that the only problem is to find sufficient men and women to operate those plants.

The extension of age limits for army service will increase Britain's available men for the fighting forces by 3,000,000.

There is deep thrill in the sight of the "tight little isle," thus girding herself for a struggle that can end only in her complete destruction or in her complete victory.

Who can doubt the result when such a nation is so united and so grimly determined?

Another Vichy politician tells the people to go to work, which doesn't sound very French, or like a politician.

Were You Born?

Were you born? If so, where and when? Can you answer those questions and adduce acceptable proof thereof?

It is not so simple as it appears. For instance, in many branches of the national service, in government work and in defense employment, it is necessary for the applicant or worker to produce a birth certificate. To prove he, or she, is an American and to provide evidence as to age, place of birth, parentage, etc.

Prior to 1919 Georgia law did not require registration of all births. Some Georgia cities did. But the result is that a large proportion of those who first saw the light of day in this state prior to 1919 have no birth certificate and must go through a rather complicated and troublesome process to procure a satisfactory facsimile.

Such a facsimile can be secured. The vital statistics division of the state health department will issue a delayed certificate of birth, provided one item of first-class evidence as to that birth is produced. This item maybe a certified christening record within one year of birth, certified family Bible with the birth recorded at the time, or a signed statement by the attending physician.

Even though there has been no call for your birth certificate yet, it is advisable to secure one as soon as you can. For, in addition to its requirement if you ever apply for a government job, it is necessary when applying for an old age pension under the social security law. And for other reasons.

The statistics department at the state capitol has been swamped with requests for these delayed birth certificates of late, so don't be impatient if it takes some time for yours to come through. But it is the part of wisdom to set about getting one, right away.

CONSERVING WASTEPAPER
(From The Sandersville Progress.)

The shortage of paper is becoming more acute in this country each day with prospects that newspapers and magazines will be forced to curtail the sizes of their publications during 1942.

There is a large amount of wastepaper in Washington county that could be saved and sold at a profit. The Boy Scouts, senior classes in various schools and other organizations should lay plans now to collect this waste and convert it into cash.

Practically every home in Washington county has stacks of magazines, old books and newspapers that are not needed. These owners gladly donate this waste to any organization that would call for it.

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAY G. HAYDEN.

SOUTHERN REVOLT WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The revolt of southern Democrats against President Roosevelt's domestic policies, which came within an ace of defeating neutrality act revision, operated with a vengeance in the house voting on the administration's price-fixing bill.

Even after most of the tech had been extracted from the latter measure, 68 Democrats either voted or were paired against it. Of these 55 were from the south and southern border states. Speaker Sam Rayburn's home state of Texas provided nine Democratic opposition votes; Mississippi, Georgia and Oklahoma, six each; Kentucky, five; Missouri, four; North Carolina, Virginia, Florida and Louisiana, three each; Arkansas, Tennessee and Alabama, two each; South Carolina, one.

The 13 other Democratic votes against the bill consisted of three from California and one each from New Mexico, Nebraska, Utah, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Montana, Michigan, Idaho, Nevada and Wisconsin. There was not a single Democratic opposition vote from all of New England, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Illinois—embracing the bulk of the nation's industrial production.

SAVED BY REPUBLICANS Only the fact that the Republican managers, in consideration of this measure, Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. and Representative Jesse P. Wolcott, of Michigan, decided that it would be a mistake for their party to oppose price-fixing per se, saved the administration from complete rout. Had the 58 Republicans who voted for the bill gone the other way, the result of 224 to 161, by which the bill was finally passed, would have been substantially reversed. Rebellious Democrats earlier had combined with Republicans to strike out entirely a provision for licensing industrial producers and dealers, to impose a board of review to sit over Price Administrator Leon Henderson, and to confine governmental buying and selling of commodities to the American market.

LABOR STATUS BLAMED As with the revolt on neutrality legislation, Democratic opposition to price-fixing arose chiefly from the administration's failure to curb the rising power of organized labor. Neutrality act revision was saved by a last-minute promise of administration leaders that legislation to curb strikes in defense industries would be given right-of-way in the house.

The principal demand of the southern insurgents on price-fixing was that control be extended to wages as well as prices. When this was denied, the insurgents of the same as combined with Republicans to upset President Roosevelt's legislative proposals repeatedly during the period between his first re-election in 1936 and the outbreak of European war in 1939. That the coalition then had strong popular support was indicated by the signal failure of the President's attempt to purge recalcitrant Democrats and a Republican gain of 77 house and 8 senate seats in the 1938 elections.

The southern Democrats, however, swung back to the President's side on the war issue. From repeal of the arms embargo in the fall of 1939 until enactment of the lend-lease legislation last spring, the vote of Democrats from the south and the southern border states in support of the President's war policies was virtually unanimous. On the lend-lease bill, for example, these states provided 137, substantially more than half of the total of 260 votes cast for the bill in the house.

OTHER CAUSES While the present southern discontent stems to a great extent from the steady procession of strikes in defense industries, it by no means is confined to this issue. Little business in the south is being pinched in many ways besides rising labor costs. Priorities are cutting into the supply of raw materials for many lines of manufacture and, coupled with this condition, is a feeling that the south has not been given its share of defense contracts.

The cotton price, ranging from 16 to 17 cents a pound, is higher than at any time for several years, but costs of production and marketing have risen even faster. Opposition to the provision of the price-fixing bill, authorizing the government to buy and sell commodities, arose in part from a suspicion that Mr. Henderson was planning to use the huge cotton surplus, in the hands of the government, to hold the price down.

DON'T LIKE TAX PLANS Southern representatives did not like the tax proposals submitted by the Treasury last spring. A revolt on this score was averted only by action of the House Ways and Means Committee, under the leadership of its chairman, Robert L. Doughton, of North Carolina, in rejecting administration recommendations and writing a bill strictly to suit them. Mr. Doughton now is on the warpath against the suggestion by President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau of a steep increase in social security taxes and a 15 per cent withholding tax applicable to all earnings in excess of present income tax exemptions.

The effect of all of these conditions has been to bring home to congressmen the fact that their constituents, by the time next year's election rolls around, are going to be sweating under the burdens of the present colossal war expenditures, whether it be in the form of higher prices, due to increased production and taxes. The just ordinary voter is going to be hit either way and there is a strong premonition that he may strike back at the polls.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

Mind Reading?

There are some things, I presume, for which everyone of us is gullible. Not the same things, but each individual will fall for some racket, or trick.

However, recently I passed, in downtown Atlanta, one of those "mind reading," outfits and paused to watch their modus vivendi. It was a woman under a large umbrella and a man, the speller.

The build up included blind-folding of the woman and a few stunts like telling the denomination and date of minting of coins in hands of spectators. Also the reading of the serial numbers on a dollar bill or two.

Of course I don't know just what method this couple uses, but my guess would be they have a few "shills" working with them. These are confederates who mingle with the crowd. Thus the woman would be asked to read the bills whose numbers she reads and it would be the same bills each time.

The real stunt is when members of the audience pay a quarter or so to have a question answered. The inquirer whispers his name to the man, so low he is sure the woman cannot overhear, and asks his question. The woman then tells the questioner's Christian name and makes a sort of generalization as to the type of question usually asked. And presents the questioner with one of those printed "horoscopes" that don't mean a thing.

There are various ways of performing this stunt. One is by means of signals—perhaps the sign language of the deaf and dumb—transmitted from one hand of the man, a hand probably hanging unostentatiously by his side or perhaps behind his back. There are other methods. And probably this particular couple uses one I'm not familiar with. But it stands to reason it is some such stunt.

Vaudeville Astonishers.

Many years ago, when vaudeville was in its heyday, I made my living, for some time, playing piano in vaudeville theaters. I was quite young at the time. And there used to be a number of "mind readings," acts, with elaborate paraphernalia and astrophysical settings, which were highly paid attractions of the vaudeville circuits.

I recall one, Madame Fay, who headlined in the best theaters.

If memory serves aright, Madame Fay's most important "prop" was a speaking tube that ran from below stage, through a leg of the throne-like chair on which she sat and under her own clothes. Through this tube she received necessary information about the questioners in the audience from a staff of two or three confederates.

And it is surprising how much information you can gather about most individuals from a city directory, a professional and trade directory or two, if that information is smartly dressed up to puzzle an audience.

There was another act, a brother and sister put it on, which I was never able to penetrate save in some minor details of the signaling. He went through the audience and asked the questions to his sister on the stage. I ran the act twice and thus watched their act twice daily for two weeks, or 24 times in all. And you can't help picking up some inside stuff under those conditions.

But None Is Supernatural.

Such acts, whether on elaborately arranged stage or under a small tent in a carnival, are amusing and interesting. But you confess yourself as awfully gullible if you think they are, in any degree, what they pretend to be. Everyone is based upon a simple trick, or signaling system and, if you knew the secret, your only surprise would be why everyone doesn't catch on.

Remember, if these people could do what the speller says they do, they wouldn't be putting on an act in theater or tent. Their gifts would be so valuable in other ways they could make piles of money almost overnight.

And if you are ever tempted to fall for that astrology gag, get wise to yourself before it costs you anything and remember it is one with belief in witches and sorcery, in the philosopher's stone and alchemy.

Take up, instead, a study of the real science of astronomy and learn enough about the vast universe of which our earth is but a speck of dust. That is one of the most fascinating subjects for anyone who has the attention and as different settings, which were highly paid

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The opinions expressed by Mr. Pegler in this column are his own and do not necessarily represent the opinion of The Atlanta Constitution.

Add To List NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—To the number of conspirators, perjurers and murderers who have received special kindness at the hands of the pro-Communist government of the once American state of California in recent weeks, the name of Richard Julius Herman Krebs, alias Jan Valtin, may now be added.

Krebs is the international political typhus louse who served both the Muscovites and the Nazis, served a prison term in California for attempting to carry out a political execution by order of the Kremlin and recently wrote a book which became a best seller by virtue of its shocking admissions.

For years he drifted about the world like a disease-laden rat in the service of the Moscow conspiracy, dealing in treachery and always an enemy of the people whose hospitality he enjoyed and of the American people and their peace and safety in particular. He was an agent and spy of the same evil Kremlin which has betrayed the American way but nevertheless continued that stealthy betrayal of the trust of a fool.

Betrayed Both He welshed on his Communist friends and betrayed them to take service with the Nazis and now he has betrayed the Nazis and applied for American citizenship, which is likely to be granted merely because he says he has seen the error of his past and wants to be an American.

Governor Culbert L. Olson, the chief of the pro-Communist administration in California, has given Krebs, or Valtin, an unconditional pardon so that his application for citizenship may be aided.

Krebs served a term in San Quentin for beating a man over the head with a pistol in compliance with an assignment from his Russian superiors to dispose of a traitor to the Soviets. He wrote in his book that he faltered because he and scruples against killing in cold blood, although he had not hesitated to promote and participate in Communist street fighting in Germany and therefore merely slugged the man whom he understood to be his subject.

Served 3 Years Caught and given 10 years, he served three years, was deported and came back to the United States. There is no assurance but his own word that he has reformed and become, in heart, an American, and there is every reason in his own story for believing that he is a liar who takes citizenship with the same mental reservations that are held by every Nazi and every European Communist.

Nevertheless, although it was not necessary for him to do so, Governor Olson has pardoned Krebs, who is now engaged in lecturing and exploiting his past for profit as a career and soon enough this professional traitor will be an American citizen on equal footing with any American who was born here and has never for a moment wavered in his loyalty.

The pardon follows soon after the parole of three murderers in California who engaged a group of Communists to assassinate an American sailor and stab him dead because the American had resisted the conspiracies of the Communist members of the ship's company. These murderers were turned out on the strength of Governor Olson's expressed opinion that in somewhat under five years in prison they had fully expiated their cowardly murder of a man whose life was forfeit because he would not co-operate with or flinch from the Communists.

No Pretense Of Innocence The California Communists campaigned for their release on the flat proposition that, guilty or not of this murder, they should be freed, and Governor Olson subscribed to that for there was no contention in the parole order that their innocence of murder and the victims of injustice. The Communists who demanded the release of the murderers had been encouraged by a San Francisco judge who refused to punish even for an hour Sam Darcy, a Ukrainian Russian perjurer, who had the effrontery to run for the office of governor of California and swore that he had been born in New York. Darcy is an avowed Communist of the Stalin or Muscovite stripe, an old and persistent conspirator against the established American form of government and a notorious fomenter of Muscovite union strikes in California but, in spite of all this and the difficulty of proving his guilt, the San Francisco judge released him to enjoy the same rights that patriotic, law-abiding Americans deserve but often are unable to exercise because the Darcys and Krebs or Valtins and such men as the three liberated murderers have other ideas.

Krebs or Valtin appears to be doing well financially in the land of Uncle Sam for the saps are easier to hear the story of the perfidy which made him famous and by its very cynicism and brutality qualified him for a pardon and, eventually, full citizenship.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

HE MENTIONED JUNIOR LEAGUE It was a very busy morning. Mr. Morgan Blake was leaning out his window on the other side of the railroad tracks, shaking a fist in my direction, and shouting: "You promised to write something about Optimist Week and about the world needing more faith in its future and about the essays and prizes," he shouted, glaring very hard. "And you haven't done it." A switch engine came by under his nose and drowned out what else he had to say, and a good thing it was, too, him a Sunday school teacher.

But, perhaps it ties in, at that, because yesterday morning I was riding in on a bus and two gentlemen in the seat ahead of me were reading their favorite newspaper, and one said to the other: "I see where these fool society women are putting on a show called 'The Follies,' and that fits it exactly. It's too bad they haven't something to do."

I wanted to tap him on the shoulder and say, "Well, brother, let me tell you" but I let it go. There wasn't time. I know less about the Junior League as a social organization than anyone else and am not interested in knowing about it as such. I do encounter them doing useful things and I am interested and do know something about that. They do a great deal of service because they have the leisure. The fact they use the leisure in community service merits the very honest applause of all thinking persons. Not all its members, I am sure, are useful. That is true of all organizations. And, as is true in all organizations, those who aren't useful are known and their lack of usefulness earns for them the proper regard. I imagine the proportion of useful members is as large in this organization as in any other.

A FEW EXHIBITS My own estimate is that their service at the Henrietta Eggleston Hospital for Children is their finest contribution because it is for children and it touches more lives. I have seen, too, the speech clinic where deaf children are taught speech and lip-reading. That is exciting and stimulating. There, as at Eggleston, members serve as assistants in the clinic and offer.

I have seen them at Grady hospital, doing work there. They give basal metabolisms, and handle office work in the thyroid clinic. More than 100 volunteer workers give regular service in Atlanta's welfare agencies. Among them are two charity medical clinics. The League furnishes a clerical staff for the Diptheria Immunization Project of the Public Health Department.

The League's secretary informs me that 51 members are now serving on administrative boards of Atlanta's welfare organizations. Fifty to 80 members assist each year in the Community Fund campaign. The defense program of the League includes Red Cross courses and volunteer service at the Red Cross.

They attempt to have all members registered to vote and they co-operate with the Atlanta League of Women Voters. It is a working organization, occupying a prominent place in the social world. The fact that it is relatively exclusive and its entertainments receive substantial space in the society pages, subjects it to some criticism from those who dislike that sort of thing. That is not important.

What is important is that here are a number of young women with leisure which they use intelligently and for the good of the community. They do things.

LEAGUE CHARITIES It is a substantial sort of contribution in hours of work and in money.

The records show that in the past 25 years the League has earned and contributed $131,058.06, and that all of it has been spent in charitable work in the community. It is doubtful if any other organization has produced as much in money and service.

The Follies will be, I am sure, an excellent amateur production. They will be most entertaining to those who have friends, relatives and acquaintances in the cast.

The Follies may be interesting to those who would like to get a look at those whose names occur frequently in prominent society page items, dancing, singing and performing as chorus girls and as members of a musical show.

Participating also will be 24 cadets from the United States Naval Reserve Air Base.

The money derived from "The Follies" will be used to carry on the activities of the Junior League in its various fields of community endeavor. Without "The Follies" and the money which friends, relatives and the interested public will pay into the box office, these activities would be curtailed.

Most of this I could have told the gentleman in the seat ahead of me on the 9 o'clock bus.

Also, I hope this will fit into Mr. B's idea of optimism and that it will serve as a contribution to the week which is, as I understand, devoted to service and optimism.

Let's see, what is the news from Libya?

The Strong Face Danger While The Weak Close Their Eyes To Hide From It

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Elsie McCormick's recent Post story about Rocky mountain spotted fever reports an incident that revealed a tragic weak spot in human nature.

In the region where the fever was most frequent and deadly, some native decided that it was caused by drinking snow-water. This theory was generally accepted until the scientists moved in and proved, after nine had sacrificed their lives, that it was caused by the bite of a hard-shelled tick.

Many of the natives resented the tick theory. They even armed themselves and used force to interfere with the research work of the scientists.

One old farmer, speaking for his kind in a thousand generations, said: "I don't like this tick idea. So long as I believe the fever is caused by drinking snow-water, I can carry a canteen of water from my own well and feel safe; but if I believe it is caused by ticks, I'll feel scared to death every time I go out in the field."

He spoke with the voice of history. Man lived in intellectual darkness for ages because he feared the truth. The people of every generation rejected it because it interfered with established privilege or demanded expensive changes or discredited their leaders or disrupted the easy and familiar customs of ignorance.

They rejected the truth, not because they could not see it, but because they would not. Having eyes, they would not see. They said to themselves, in effect: "My mind is convinced of this truth, but accepting it would be troublesome and costly; therefore I shall not believe it."

How limitless is man's capacity for fooling himself! Hiding from unpleasant truth is a weakness common to us all. Our natural tendency is to take the easy way and avoid the way that is hard. And we take the hard way only when we have developed enough self-respect, moral strength and pride in decency to love right for its own sake.

Human progress is a matter of overcoming natural tendencies. We build civilization by taking the hard way and suppressing our natural, primitive, animal desires. And we must overcome the natural weakness that tempts us to fool ourselves before we can learn the truth that finally makes men free—and safe.

Now, as never before in our time, it is necessary to fight this weakness. Recent history has shown us the tragic result of refusing to see disagreeable truth. Those who took the easy way are now enslaved.

The truth is not hidden. It sticks out like a sore thumb. Any person who is capable of intellectual honesty can see the truth if he has the moral courage to face it. Those who are fools are deliberately fooling themselves because the truth is disagreeable and shocking and threatening. But they cannot change their minds by refusing to recognize them. They can only blind themselves and walk in self-made darkness to gain a brief feeling of security in the presence of the ruin they invite.

Left All Alone
In a Closed Car—
A Cruel World

Because it's the way I've thought about it so often—and always forgot to write it—I'm quoting Henry T. McIntosh in his Albany Herald: "The distress of a child left alone in an automobile while the family folks visit near-by stores can almost wring tears from the eyes of a stoic."

"The car was parked on Pine avenue. A little boy was in sole and lonely possession, and his heart was broken. The folks must have been gone for some time, as the small face that looked out of a window of the car was begrimed and tear-streaked. The little fellow was not mad; he seemed to be weeping more in sorrow than in anger, but he could not understand why a little boy should be left all alone in a parked car in a business district where strange noises filled the air and nobody seemed to care."

"Passers-by who stopped for a word of cheer or comfort—to assure the little chap that the folks would be back in a little while, and that weeping would not help matters—were rewarded with no more than a blurred stare through a film of tears. Little Man just simply was not going to be comforted till mama came back from wherever she had gone, and other would-be comforters were simply wasting their time."

"Perhaps the prize-breaker is the little dog that's been locked in a parked car, with narrow cracks at the top of the windows for ventilation. The most doleful-voiced pup in seven states was telling the world of his woes not long ago. This car was also parked on Pine avenue, and the ferrier on the front seat was howling as only a forgotten pup can howl. He just knew the family had deserted him and that he'd never see them again. Strange faces, strange odors, strange noises were all around, and there could be but one explanation. He had been abandoned to his fate in a strange place and among strange people. It was a cruel, cruel world."

Big Words

For the benefit—perhaps—of lads and lassies who will be graduated next spring from schools of journalism and drop in to ask me how to become a great journalist—as though I should know—I clip a paragraph or so from James B. Polhill, Jr., of the Louisville (Ga.) News and Farmer:

"When I was a small boy, I was prone to use big words. My pronunciation was frequently not correct. In fact, I would 'voit' words that sounded something like the word I was trying to use. (Maybe I have not yet outgrown that fault either). Anyway when my elders corrected me, they would say, 'Bub, you are like Judge Beckworth. He was an attractive old gentleman who lived in these parts and from the fullness of his heart he would make ambitious speeches. He, like you, frequently missed his words a bit. For instance Judge Beckworth was famous for saying, 'Somebody I plan to plant a revenue of trees from my house to the road. Then I will add a condition to my house so that I can contain my friends in a more hostile manner.'"

Advertisement in the Banks County Journal intrigues me, as the saying is:

"Wanted: Honey locust pods in large quantities. Will pay one cent per pound at country stores or 1 1/2 cents per pound delivered to Ernest Henson, Southern Seed Co., Baldwin, Ga."

What use are honey locust pods? We want to know. As children we picked them off the ground and consumed the honeyed insides with relish—just as we ate mulberries and persimmons and Maypops and everything that grew wild, and continued to live.

BIBLES FOR RUSSIA.

Dr. Francis Stiffler, editorial secretary of the American Bible Society, called me from his New York office the other afternoon and read the following cablegram:

"Have permission distribute Scriptures, Russia. May we place first order 30,000 New Testaments? Cost $3,250 (American)."

Dr. Stiffler explained that the Bible society had exhausted its available funds for this year in meeting other urgent requests for the Scriptures in war-torn lands, but he feared the effect upon the Russian authorities if we delayed a day in answering this first opportunity to distribute the Bible among their people, particularly those in prison.

"I have talked with my associates, and our hearts turn to you to know if the Bible-loving people of the south will come to our rescue in this unprecedented opportunity to do something for the Russian people," said Dr. Stiffler.

I told him to cable his associates in Geneva to rush the 30,000 copies of the New Testament to Russia, and that the "Bible-loving people of the south" would immediately provide the $3,250 required to send this first shipment of the Scriptures into Russia. Dr. Stiffler assured me that ample authority had been given to get these New Testaments into Russian hands—that the experienced representatives of the American and British Bible societies could be depended upon to see the job done at that end of the line. In a later air-mail letter he explained that they are placing an order for additional copies of the Bible, Old and New Testaments, to be printed in Finland, where there is plenty of paper, realizing that this request for 30,000 copies of the New Testament is but the beginning of the open door for the Bible in Russia.

I made the announcement last Sunday of this appeal for money with which to pay for these first copies of the New Testament for Russia, the service being broadcast over WGST, and already letters are coming from friends throughout the reach of the broadcast, enclosing checks for this fund. Friends who desire to share in this greatest missionary opportunity of the year are invited to mail me their checks, 1085 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., Atlanta. All gifts will be acknowledged and transmitted at once to the American Bible Society. I am hoping that we shall raise within the next few days not only the amount necessary to pay for this first shipment of New Testaments into Russia, but much more than that amount, all of which will be used for additional copies of the Bible for Russia. And as we make our gifts for this vitally important cause, let us remember these words of the 119th Psalm, verse 130:

"The entrance of Thy word giveth light."

Let me take this opportunity to thank you in advance for your contribution to this cause.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(AP)—With the immediate goal of one merchant ship a day at hand, the Maritime Commission predicted today its ultimate objective of two ships a day would be reached by the middle of 1942.

Launchings will reach a one-a-day rate for the first time this month, with 30 vessels scheduled to slide down shipways.

Defense Jobs Filled by Many NYA Workers

344,363 in Project Entered Private Work in 1st Nine Months.

With defense industries absorbing a high percentage, 344,363 National Youth Administration project workers entered private employment throughout the nation the first nine months this year, the NYA reported yesterday.

Georgia NYA Administrator Busefeillet Jones said most of those taken by defense industries were prepared specifically for those jobs by NYA. He said more than 5,000 youths were placed in aircraft jobs, more than 13,000 in shipbuilding, 2,200 in manufacture of machine tools and 4,800 in electrical machinery and equipment plants.

More than half of the young workers now entering defense jobs, Jones added, are going from NYA projects "securing jobs as a direct result of their work experience and related vocational training at these work centers."

While no overall figures were available, the administrator said since the youth work defense program was instituted last July 1, 1,304 Georgia NYA youths secured private employment, most of them in defense plants.

"These figures will increase constantly each month," he said. "Since July our defense program has been tooling up. Now that our physical plants are ready, our new program can move with added impetus."

Hope Renewed For Lifting of Ban on Power

.58 of an Inch of Rain Falls Here, More in Other Sections.

Rainfall, which totaled .58 of an inch here but measured nearly two inches in other portions of the power-depleted southeast, renewed hopes yesterday that black-out restrictions of the OPM may be relaxed or abolished entirely by December 15.

Federal power officials, keeping careful check on water supplies because of the power shortage, said additional reports were necessary before they could reach new conclusions regarding the emergency.

Major John C. Damon, blackout enforcement officer, said he was reasonably certain, however, that a previously announced relaxation of restrictions set for December 15 would go into effect, regardless of future rainfall.

He said it still was doubtful, however, if outdoor Christmas lighting would be permitted.

Readings issued last night by Meteorologist Glen Jefferson, who is forecasting no rain for today, gave the following totals: Atlanta, .58; Griffin, 1.55; Columbus, 1.10; and Albany, 1.55. Lesser amounts fell in the north Georgia sections where Georgia Power Company reservoirs are located, but the heavy fall around Columbus helped that part of the state.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many suffer relief from nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eye, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ARE YOU RUPTURED?

Don't delay! Come in today and consult our Registered Physician about your condition. We carry a complete line of nationally known Trusses—also complete stock of Elastic Hosiery.

Barnyard Odor About Capitol? Governor Never Has Smelled It

Subject Result of Magazine Article About Chief Executive; Says Author Has Good Topic If He Wants To Use It.

This question came up yesterday at the Governor's press conference:

Is there, or is there not, a barnyard odor about the state capitol? Walter Davenport, who recently wrote a piece for Collier's Weekly, insists there is. Governor Tamm said he had never smelled it, and added he believed he could prove his case by capitol news-men.

It all came about when the Governor was asked his opinion of the Collier's article.

"Funny, wasn't it?" he snapped back. "I never have smelled any barnyard odor around here and I believe I can prove it by the reporters for these Atlanta dailies."

"I've about decided that fellow Davenport didn't do himself justice," the Governor went on. "I figured he might write a right funny piece if he wanted to and I didn't much care. But after reading it I've about concluded Collier's is overpaying him. He ain't worth what he's gettin'."

The Governor stopped for a moment, stared out the window and then closed the issue.

"But it's his own fault, though; for he had a good subject if he wanted to write."

UNIFORM FUND VOTED—Fulton county board votes $7,500 for Defense Corps uniforms, as a committee of 50 volunteers, headed by Major Oren Warren, state adjutant, appears before the commission, which agrees to pay half of cost, provided the city pays the other half. The camera caught this scene of the delegation present.

Mother Watches As Girl Fires Fatal 'Mercy Bullet' at Brother

KINGS PARK, N. Y., Dec. 3.—(P)—George Horn, 26, described as a "hopeless" mental patient in the Kings Park state hospital, was shot dead today before the eyes of his mother, and District Attorney Fred J. Munder said a sister had admitted the killing with the statement:

"I am very glad. That was the least I could do for him."

Munder quoted Mrs. Edith Reichert, 28, as saying she had talked it over with the mother, Mrs. Edith Horn, 55, and they had decided "it was the best way to put him out of his misery."

Munder said Mrs. Reichert later changed her story to exonerate her mother by declaring that Mrs. Horn knew nothing about her having the rifle and adding: "I planned it out at home."

Chief of Police Cyrus Donnelly, of Smithtown township, quoted the sister as saying during questioning:

"I didn't want to see him suffer. He was talking of suicide all the time, but he got so bad he couldn't kill himself."

Horn, who lived on the floor of the hospital reception room with two bullets in his neck. A third shot struck the wall.

Munder said the two women came to the institution on a regular visit and officials did not notice a saved-off rifle. Mrs. Reichert had stuffed up her right sleeve.

Shortly after the three entered the room about 3:30 p. m., an attendant outside the door heard the first shot and rushed inside to find the rifle pressed against Horn's throat. Before he could act, another bullet pierced the patient's neck and he fell at the feet of his mother and sister.

The attendant then grabbed for the rifle and a third shot went wild.

The women offered no resistance and were taken to a state police barracks for questioning, and an autopsy was ordered.

Horn was admitted to the hospital September 18, 1940, suffering from dementia praecox.

Dr. Reginald Steen, assistant physician at the hospital, said records listed the case as "hopeless—recovery very doubtful if at all."

In Brooklyn, where the family lived, Mrs. Irene Murphy, Mrs. Horn's former landlady, described her as "a very nice woman, but she appeared always to have something on her mind."

The mother sat in the police station reading magazines while her daughter was being questioned.

Mrs. Reichert, an attractive brunette, asked to be excused during questioning to call her husband, Joseph, a film exchange cashier in Manhattan. Upon returning to the room she asked for services of an attorney and police agreed to withhold further inquiries until after one was engaged for her arraignment.

Before his illness, the victim was a runner for a bonding company in Manhattan.

Commission Fails To Vote Raises

Fulton county commissioners yesterday failed to vote increases for county employees, but indicated a blanket raise of 5 per cent would be given in the near future.

Appearing in opposition to any action that might adversely affect taxpayers was a committee consisting of Jack Adair, president of the Atlanta Real Estate Board; Fred Moore and Judson Garner, of the Building Owners and Managers' Association.

After hearings, Commissioners E. L. Almand and R. C. Adams, the committee said they would not oppose pay increases if there was sufficient money in the county treasury. Adams said that, of the 1,046 employees of the county, 882 were paid salaries of $185 per month and under.

$7,500 Is Voted For Defense Unit Uniforms

Purchase Depends on City Matching County Fund.

Fulton county board of commissioners yesterday voted $7,500 to pay half the cost of winter uniforms for the 1,200 members of the Fulton Civilian Defense Corps, provided the city contributes a similar amount.

A committee of 50 officers and men of the corps appeared before the commissioners. No sooner had Major Oren Warren, state adjutant; Captain Clayton Burke and Captain Graham Clark stated the wishes of the committee than Commissioner R. C. Adams moved that the sum asked be voted. His motion was seconded by Commissioner E. L. Almand. It passed unanimously.

Among the volunteers attending the meeting were Captains Ray Spitzer, Henry C. Taylor, A. A. Cranston, R. B. Giles, J. D. Anthony, Major M. L. B. Clark, and Lieutenants Mike Greenblatt, Lloyd A. Sifford, H. C. Kendrick.

RIALTO NOW

Top-Ranking Entertainers Hold Spotlight in Current Bills Here

Five New Pictures Move In, While Two Are Held Over; Garbo and Douglas Team in "Two-Faced Woman."

By LEE ROGERS,
Motion Picture Editor.

Top-ranking film entertainers in a variety of fields will perform on Atlanta screens for the movie week beginning today.

Biggest name in the lot is Greta Garbo, the silent Swede, who "tanks" she will go in this time for comedy again, playing the dual role of twin sisters in an age-old gag to win her husband back. The film is "Two-Faced Woman" and it will play at Loew's.

Hottest comedians of the day are Abbott and Costello, who now in their fourth straight hit—"Keep 'Em Flying," will open the fun at the Fox today. Loretta Young is the name in the Rialto's unusual motion picture, "The Men in Her Life." This is from the sensational novel by Lady Eleanor Smith.

The romantic influence of the air prevails at the Roxy, where Ronald Reagan and Olympe Bradna will emote in "International Squadron," a story of the RAF's flying counterpart to the famous French Foreign Legion. The Capitol opens tomorrow with a new stage attraction featuring the lovely Victory Girls, plus the film, "Mob Town," the Dead End Kids' latest riot.

Holdovers are "Shadow of the Thin Man" at the Rhodes, and "Birth of the Blues," at the Paramount.

Loew's.

Greta Garbo gives a break to Georgia's Melvyn Douglas as he becomes the only male actor ever to appear three times as the Garbo's lover on the screen. The film is "Two-Faced Woman."

Miss Garbo plays twin sisters—posing sweet and innocent one time to win Mr. Douglas and march him to the altar. Then, seeing hubby drifting away, she turns not so innocent, making up the old story of a twin sister, and wins the devotion of the tiring husband back again. The desire and demand for the drastic action by Miss Garbo in playing a different type sister is necessitated after she has found Melvyn slipping about to make love and woo with Constance Bennett, quite a charmer in her own right.

It's a new Garbo, they say, in this picture. She laughed in her last but the great emotionalist goes much further this time. She jitters, sings, swims, revealing her torso for the first time in a one-piece bathing suit, and highly imaginative evening gowns. They say you must do the imagining. Support comes from Roland Young, Robert Sterling and Ruth Gordon.

Rialto.

This morning the Rialto offers, for a week's showing, one of the most startling and unusual film features of the year. It is the Columbia picture, "The Men in Her Life," starring Loretta Young.

Gregory Ratoff was producer and director for the picture, which sticks remarkably closely to the book, despite the fact that it was freely predicted it could not be picturized effectively or with sufficient propriety.

Loretta Young plays the part of a girl, Lina Varsavina, who becomes internationally famous as a ballet dancer. But there are four men who, at different times, enter her life. And the result of these contacts with romance prove emotionally devastating, both to the girl's private life and to her career. The final climax keeps surprise. It is the story of a woman who dared to do the things of which all women dream—but most of them only dream.

The exceptionally strong supporting cast includes Conrad Veidt, Dean Jagger, Otto Kruger, Eugenie Leontovich, John Sheppard and many others. The picture is remarkable though for its settings and for the brilliant costumes worn by Miss Young.

Roxy.

A romantic division of the Royal Flying Corps is the background for what is said to be an exciting airplane adventure picture opening today at the Roxy theater. It is "International Squadron" and was produced under the Warner banner with Ronald Reagan and Olympe Bradna as featured players.

"The squadron is a hodgepodge of nationals united with but a common goal, the defeat of Hitler and the Nazi hordes. Center of attraction is Ronald Reagan as a high-flying, devil-may-care American barnstormer who gets a job flying bombers to England to escape a court summons from one of the girls he left behind—and who didn't like it. In England he suddenly is impressed by the seriousness of the war upon seeing the flying patrol of Czechs, French, Rumanians—all men without countries who are now flying for England. The climax in his thinking comes when he meets a French refugee, Miss Bradna. They romance and Reagan is then determined to join the "International Squadron." Action is fast and furious with many actual scenes from the battle of Britain for background. Byron Kennerly, flight officer in the RAF, helped in the direction of the picture's making.

MURDER TO THE SOUTH—Famed Detective Charlie Chan gets a rush call to South America to do some mystery solving down under in "Charlie Chan in Rio," which opens tomorrow at the Capitol theater. In the title role is Sidney Toler, right. Kay Linker is the No. 1 son.

Fox.

King of the knock-about comedians, Abbott and Costello, fly into the Fox today in a rollicking comedy with a national defense background called "Keep 'Em Flying."

The story, in between comedy and gag lines, deals with two nutty grease monkeys on a military aviation reservation, whose duty it is to keep the planes in shape. Prominent in the cast is Carol

Bruce, who makes a personal appearance today at the Fox. Other cast members include Martha Raye, the feminine rival of Joe E. Brown, as the singing hostess; William Gargan as a flying instructor; Dick Foran as a circus stunt flyer, enamored of Miss Bruce.

The show falls in the classification of a musical comedy, with a swing band, original songs, etc.

Stage Show at Capitol.

The Dead End Kids in "Mob Town," which has been drawing large crowds to the Capitol theater this week, ends after the last performance tonight.

Starting tomorrow, the Capitol brings in a new stage show, "V Follies," which offers a cast of 35 performers including a line of lovely Victory Girls who will feature dance presentations that are said to be above average. One of their specialties will be the violin ensemble in which the girls will play violins while executing dance routines.

While dancing is an important part of this new revue, there will be offered numerous acts of vaudeville which should please a majority. Some of the better known vaudeville folk with "V Follies" are Bobby Carr and Company in "Hokum a la Carte;" Henry Hale, the acrobatic dancing comedian; Burns and Burnache, novelty dancing team; Fred Townes and Company, two talented people.

On the screen, starting also tomorrow with the stage show, the Capitol will offer "Charlie Chan in Rio," starring Sidney Toler as the Oriental sleuth, aided and abetted by Mary Beth Hughes, Corina Wright Jr., Victor Jory, and old Huber, Kay Linker and Sen Yung.

SOMBER ELECTION.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Dec. 3.—Tuesday's primary election for mayor and city council, despite the fact that nine candidates contended for six places on the council, was not an exciting one. This was impressed on voters as they entered the polling place, and in finding the election presided over by the coroner, with a mortician as one of the assistants.

CHRISTMAS PARTY.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The bond market kicked forward fractions to around a point today with all major groups participating in the move.

Trading again was active, with transfers aggregating $8,478,000, par value, compared with $10,845,500 on Tuesday.

Four of the five major groups in the Associated Press averages were up 1 to 2 of a point with the low-yields holding unchanged.

Announcement by the Treasury Department that the forthcoming huge financing operations would involve $1,000,000,000 in long term and $500,000,000 in intermediate term securities was about what the bond market had looked for.

Zion Program Is Arranged for Boehm Tribute

Certificates of Honor To Be Presented to Atlanta Couple.

An interesting program has been arranged for the meeting of the Atlanta Zionist District Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Standard Club, honoring Julian V. Boehm for outstanding work in organizing the Atlanta chapter of the American Palestine Committee, which has received national recognition.

Mr. and Mrs. Boehm will be presented with a certificate of honor, and a grove of 100 trees will be planted in Palestine, in tribute to them, to be known as the "Boehm Garden." David Gershon, president of the organization at the time the committee was formed, will make the presentation.

Mrs. Jake Abelson, past president of Senior Hadassah, will speak on Henrietta Zold on the occasion of the national leader's 81st birthday. A chanukah program will be presented by Dr. Joseph Glazer and a talking motion picture, "This Is the Land," made in Palestine, will be shown. Reports of the recent southeastern Zionist convention in Memphis will be given by Joseph M. Brown, Adalbert Freedman, Sol Benamy and Charles W. Bergman.

Clarke To Head Defense Corps Medical Group

State Organization To Be Made Up of 28 District Units.

Major Maurice I. B. Clarke has been designated to be the state commanding officer of the medical branch of the State Defense Corps, it was announced yesterday. Major Clarke formerly commanded the Georgia detachment of the 105th Medical Regiment of the Georgia National Guard.

He will develop a state-wide organization to consist of 28 district medical detachments and a number of additional county medical detachments, with each district medical detachment composed of 10 officers, including four registered nurses and 22 enlisted men. This detachment is provided with ambulance facilities and is designed to provide field hospitalization for about 30 casualties.

Organization of these units is already under way in Fulton county and enlistments are now being sought. While the requirements for enlistment is not as rigid as the Army, they are sufficiently strict to prohibit the enlistment of anyone not able to drill and participate in maneuvers. Several physicians have already been commissioned, but there is need for some additional officer personnel. Applications may be made to Major Clarke, 422 Canal building, telephone Walnut 9588; Captain R. W. Standridge, 608 Candler building, or Lieutenant Paul Vaillencourt, adjutant, at the Marcus Clothing Company.

5 City Employees May Lose Jobs

Savings amounting to $12,862.50 a year will become effective in operation of the new $50,000 city incinerator if Mayor LeCraw and city council approve recommendations of H. J. Cates, superintendent of the sanitary department.

Five employees who now draw $6.50 a day each will be cut from the pay rolls after January 1, under the plan, and this alone will save over $1,000 a month. Forty-eight employees were required to operate the old plant, but only 43 will be needed for the new one.

If the plan works out jobs of J. D. Barbour, A. D. Smith, J. A. Bryant and J. L. Jordan, all stockers, and W. F. Huiett, crane man, will be abolished.

10 Opportunity Dollars Spread Yuletide Cheer

Every Penny Donated Goes To Aid Needy Atlanta Folk.

By FRANK DRAKE.
Nobody wants to pour money down a rat hole. Why should anyone? But, don't appreciate it. When anyone, rich or not, gives his hard-earned money away he wants to give it where he knows it will do good and where he is sure it will do the most good.

Which is natural, and good business too. It's good business to help someone less fortunate than yourself when you know that unfortunate person or family will, with the help of your gift, be rehabilitated so that henceforth he (or it) will be self-supporting and self-respecting.

Your Chance To Help.
That is the opportunity The Constitution in co-operation with the Family Welfare Society is offering Atlantans this Christmas, as for 20 Christmases past. It is your chance to help a poor mother or father win independence—and to know that you have helped and that your money has done good.

Scores of families need help, a little, to overcome the terrible difficulties that death in the family has presented, or the illness of the person who earns the living has brought, or to learn to earn the money necessary to keep the family off public relief rolls. The stories of these persons less fortunate than you will be told in this newspaper as your Christmas Opportunities. They are the neediest and most deserving families in all of greater Atlanta.

96 Families Helped.
When you consider giving something to them this Yuletide, remember the record the Opportunity families have made in the past so you will know your money is doing good. This past year a total of 96 families (family groups, not single persons) were helped back to the status of independent wage earners by these generous Atlantans who gave to the Opportunity fund last Christmas. And in the years before that, hundreds have been aided on the long, hard road. The record has been public and regular reports have been made. Atlantans who have given have KNOWN their money did not go down the rat hole.

Many families this year need only a few dollars to tide them over a tough spot, caused by a tragedy human beings couldn't control. Help them by sending a contribution to the Opportunity Fund, care of Hugh H. Trotti, vice president and business manager of The Constitution, who is treasurer of the fund. Every cent you give goes to the family you want to help.

Rates on Cotton To Drop in 1942

Commodity conservation payment rates for next year will be less than in 1941 on cotton, pepper and tobacco, T. B. Breedlove, state administrative officer for the AAA, said here yesterday. The new rates established since publication of the AAA handbook are 1.25 cents a pound on cotton compared to 1.37 in 1941; $1.45 a ton for peanuts against $2.25 last year, and seven cents a pound on both flue cured and burly tobacco, one cent under last year's rate. The rate on wheat was increased from eight cents per bushel to 10.5 cents.

Breedlove said also he had been advised by I. W. Duggan, southern divisional director for the AAA, that there would be no cotton order stamps or parity payments in 1942.

Unless the cotton program is passed by congress, he said, there will be no cotton loans, either.

Lady Astor Raps Churchill Plan

LONDON, Dec. 3.—(P)—Lady Astor criticized Prime Minister Churchill sharply for not going further in proposals to conscript woman power in a speech in the house of commons today.

As the Labor party was reported threatened with a serious split over the bill, the American-born member of parliament asserted the prime minister "had a blind eye where women are concerned," and urged all women be treated alike. "If you don't conscript married women there will be great discontent," she said.

The prime minister announced a bill yesterday to conscript unmarried women between 20 and 30 for household national services, but restricting "lethal or combatant" duty to volunteers.

Hopes of Japanese-American Agreement Fading Hourly

Secretary Hull Is Pessimistic On Main Issues

Unbridgeable Gap Seen Between Philosophies of Two Nations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(INS)—Hopes of any Japanese-American rapprochement faded by the hour tonight as Secretary of State Cordell Hull disclosed clashing differences over the very fundamentals of government philosophy still stand as a seemingly unbridgeable gap between the two nations.

F. D. R. Calls Conference.

Hull's remarks took on additional significance when the White House late tonight announced that President Roosevelt has summoned congressional leaders and experts on foreign policy to confer with him in closed session tomorrow morning.

Participating in the crucial session will be Vice President Wallace, Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, ranking member of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee; Senator Hill, Democrat, Alabama, senate majority whip; House Speaker Sam Rayburn, House Majority Leader McCormack and Sol Bloom, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

There were definite indications that the meeting would concern itself primarily with the mounting Far Eastern crisis and new measures to counteract Japanese expansionist policy.

Secretary Hull, in his press conference, specifically declared that Japanese policy is based on the doctrine of force and that this force is being wielded Nazi-fashion to attain political, economic, moral and social domination of territory belonging to other sovereign nations.

Hull Pessimistic.

Hull also revealed that Japan's manifest disinclination to veer from what appeared to be a deep-rooted plan of conquest, subjugation of peoples, and arbitrary establishment of military despotism has held up current negotiations in the Japanese discussions in the exploratory stage and prevented practical consideration of the issues at stake.

In what seemed a direct charge that the Japanese have been stalling for time, the secretary explained that he felt Tokyo had presented its view only in partial form and that the exploratory, informal parleys had dealt with scores of minor questions instead of facing the main issues directly.

Hull further disclosed certain utterances of Japanese leaders and actions of the Tokyo government while negotiations were in progress had made it seem advisable toward the end of last month that the U. S. government re-state the basic principles on which it had entered the parleys this spring.

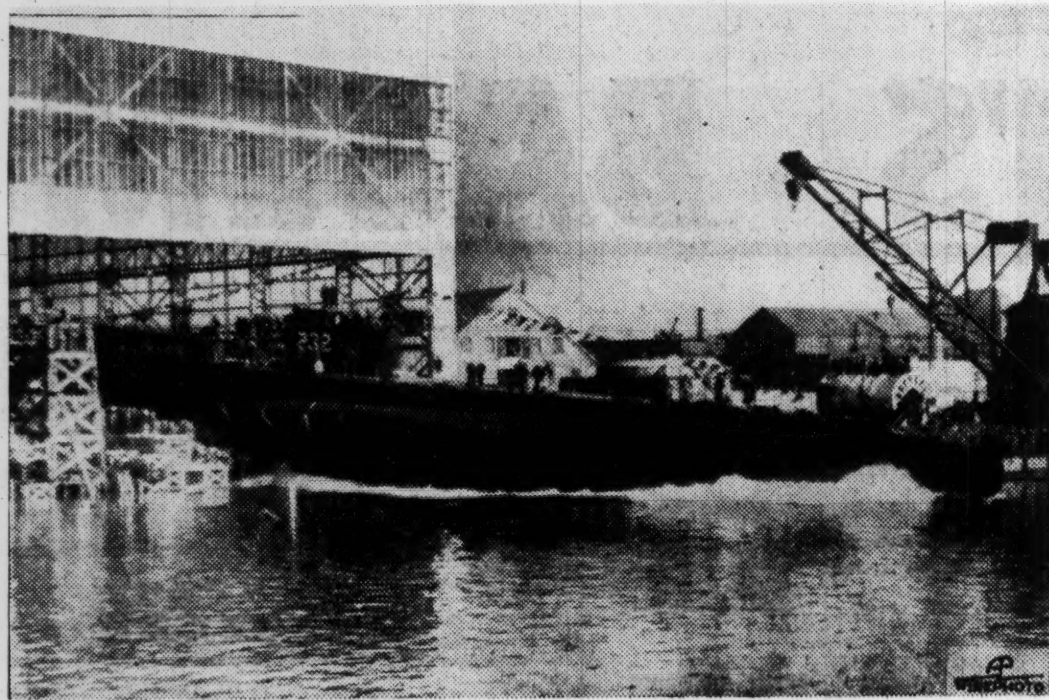

Basic Doctrines.

These principles, the secretary reiterated, are well known. As opposed to the policy of force, conquest and subjugation of people, he said they included the basic doctrines of law and justice, equality and opportunity among nations, especially economic; and the peaceful settlement of controversies by negotiation.

Those principles, he recalled, formed the backbone of the 4 points he enunciated in July, 1937. Hull declared that he had preached these American principles at every parley with Japan's regular and special envoys to Washington, but that the two nations were still basically and ideologically far apart.

The American government's idea for a peaceful settlement in the Pacific, Hull explained, includes the entire Far Eastern area—the land and seas of nearly one-half the earth.

The secretary's denunciations of Japanese conduct in the Far East and in the negotiations in SEVEN MONTHS AHEAD—The 1,526-ton submarine Halibut slides down the ways (yesterday) at the Navy Yard, Portsmouth, N. H., seven months ahead of schedule. The 14th submarine launched this year was put under construction last May 16.

Washington appeared to establish definitely that temporary "truce" agreements are excluded and that the United States will persist in its insistence that Japan stop massing troops in Indo-China.

Diplomatic quarters regarded Hull's pessimistic review of the Pacific scene as signifying that hope of reaching an overall agreement with the Japanese—the only form of agreement to which the United States would be a party—has been virtually abandoned.

DEVELOPMENTS WITHHELD FROM JAPANESE PUBLIC

TOKYO, Dec. 3.—(P)—Japanese newspapers vaguely informed the public today that President Roosevelt had asked certain questions about "Japan's intentions regarding current problems," and displayed reports that Australia was offering the United States bases for the alleged ABCD encirclement of this nation.

"United States asks explanation of the recent situation," one headline which did not disclose the exact nature or tenor of questions put by the President to the Japanese envoys in Washington.

(The President asked for an explanation of Japan's movement of large new armed forces into Indo-China.)

"Nightmares Charged."

The Japan Times and Advertiser, controlled by the foreign office, republished an article from the newspaper Miyako entitled "Australia has nightmares about Japan—offers itself to United States for strategic bases."

Miyako charged Australia with an "increasingly aggressive attitude" which it was said the United States had "accepted."

Workers wielding sledgehammers continued to knock off ornamental fixtures from the city's light posts, removed traffic lane barriers and tore down iron fences in the campaign to gather scrap metal for Japanese war industries.

Yomiuri's naval editor ironically remarked that while the United States thinks she is restraining Japan, Japan has "immobilized 80 per cent of the American fleet in the Pacific and thus given Germany a golden opportunity to conduct Atlantic naval offensives."

The Americans and British are casting "covetous eyes" on Soviet Russia's Pacific forces of more than 100 vessels, he declared.

Chugai declared Britain intended to use the present crisis as a pretext to invade Thailand, and Hoshi said she already had precedents in the case of Syria, Iran and Iraq.

A Yomiuri dispatch from San Francisco said more than 300 Japanese were expected to apply for evacuation aboard the Tatuta Maru. Most of them are employees of Japanese banks and commercial houses in New York and on the west coast.

Mrs. N. E. Roddenbury Succumbs at Waycross

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. BRUNSWICK, Ga., Dec. 3.—Information was received in Brunswick today of the death in Waycross of Mrs. N. E. Roddenbury, formerly of Brunswick. Her death was unexpected. She was the former Miss Ethel Anderson, of Brunswick, and was well known here.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Cecil M. and Delmas E. Roddenbury, of Nahant, N. J.; a daughter, Mrs. J. L. Raulerson, of Brunswick; and Mrs. A. A. Rozier, of Lake City, Fla.; three brothers, W. L. Anderson, of St. Augustine, Fla.; R. F. Anderson, of South Miami, Fla.; and M. L. Anderson, of Nahant.

Kuibyshev Hotel Band Blares Navy Tune, Ignorant of Score

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Days after the United States Army-Navy football game, when Americans here still don't know the result, the band at a Kuibyshev hotel suddenly struck up a strangely familiar tune.

"What's that tune?" asked Captain Dick Park, former West Pointer.

"I'm afraid I recognize it," gasped Captain Bob McCabe, also from the heights of the Hudson.

"Afraid I do, too," sighed Park.

All listened intently. The tune the band was blaring was a Russianized version of Navy's "Anchors Aweigh."

Anxiously, the Army men asked the band leader, through an interpreter, whether he played the tune on inside information that Navy had won.

No, he didn't know the score. For that matter, he didn't know the name of the tune. Someone sent the music from Moscow, he said, so he played it.

(The Russian band was right: Navy won, 14 to 6.)

Russians Retake 40 Villages

ish imperial force now standing on the Libya-Tripoli coastal road somewhere south of Benghazi to cut Axis reinforcements from Tripoli while the interior units whittle down the Germans and Italians.

This unit raced 300 miles to the Gulf of Sirte far to the west of the tangled Libyan armies, and the British are not saying much about it. Nor have they given a hint of its strength.

In the Libyan interior, two Nazi divisions sit in a triangle formed by Rezegh, Bir el Hamed and Zaaran astride the corridor to Tobruk which the British established November 25 only to lose it a few days later. The Germans thus have west-east communications from Bengasi to the Salum-Halfaya sector on the Egyptian border.

Tobruk Holds Outpost. The men of Tobruk hold Ed Duda, 10 miles outside their own fortifications and only about five miles west of the Nazi positions at Zaaran.

To the south an irregular British line stretches down to El Gobi, then turns eastward to the Egyptian border near Sidi Omar. An Associated Press front correspondent said the British infantry was getting a badly needed rest behind its tanks on this long line.

British salients driven north and east of the El Gobi line apparently have been withdrawn for a rest and a general military inventory.

The NBC in New York heard the Berlin radio announce: "The complete destruction of Rostov by the air force and German artillery is now an accomplished fact."

"Germany had to make good its promise," said the announcement. "The action was taken after repeated warnings and was an unavoidable and logical reprisal for the Finnish and treacherous participation of armed Russian civilians in the battle behind the German lines."

The German high command's communique last Saturday stating that the built-up section of Rostov was being evacuated, said it was for the purpose of taking measures against the population.

On the central front mounted Russian troops and others using newly delivered British tanks have beaten the Germans back in some sectors on the Moscow defense arc, from 12 to 24 miles.

Below Moscow, about Stalinogorsk, the southern anchor of the German maneuver of encirclement, an apparently considerable Nazi force was reported entrapped and the remainder falling back from village to village. In a single action, a battalion and two companies of a German motorized division were said to have been destroyed.

About Volokolamsk, northwest of the capital, Russian tanks and motorized infantry annihilated a

7 1-2 Million Is Urged For Protecting Canal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(P)—The House Appropriation Committee recommended today an immediate expenditure of $7,500,000 for continuing construction of special "secret" protective works in the Panama Canal.

The committee also urged that congress approve Canal Zone contract authorization totaling $104,000,000 for continuing installation of a third set of locks in the Isthmian waterway. The items were contained in the supplemental defense appropriation bill, on which the house began debate today.

Huge Stakes In U. S. Plans To Aid Turkey

Country May Play Vital Role in Struggle of Mediterranean.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(P)—The stakes in the diplomatic-military game of aid to Turkey are huge. With Hitler thrust back from the Caucasus, at least temporarily, Turkey remains the only practicable land bridge from the continent to the middle and near east.

Moreover, she might play a vital role in the struggle for command of the Mediterranean. Some apprehension has been expressed lest the recent conversations between Marshal Petain of France and the Nazis might lead to active German control of the French fleet and French territory in west Africa.

This might alter the Mediterranean situation drastically in favor of the Germans, unless there were some offsetting development—such as an alignment of Turkey against the Axis.

Large quantities of war supplies presumably will be made available to Turkey immediately. Such supplies have been poured into Iraq and the Persian Gulf and into Egypt's Red sea ports for the Russian armies and the British forces in Africa. Officials said that in accordance with the urgency of Turkey's needs some portions could be readily diverted to the Turkish army.

In addition it was learned that a quantity of equipment which was sent to the Greeks but which failed to arrive before their resistance to Germany collapsed has been held by the British in Egypt and probably will go to the Turks.

The present Turkish army and air force was described as well equipped and these supplies probably will go chiefly into the material reserves essential before any army can undertake a campaign.

Initial emphasis is expected to be placed on shipments of machine guns and other light weapons and on various kinds of ammunition since those are the materials which will be consumed most rapidly when and if the Turkish army goes into action.

LONDON SEES TURKEY AS ANTI-AXIS POWER

LONDON, Dec. 3.—(P)—Authoritative British sources "optimistically" view much satisfaction tonight the news that Turkey had become a U. S. lease-lend beneficiary.

In some other quarters it was welcomed particularly as an indication that Turkey is definitely aligned with the anti-Axis powers or will at least maintain a friendly neutrality to them.

This belief stemmed from the assumption that the United States never would give Turkey such aid without assurance that that country intended to resist further German blandishments. A similar feeling was expressed when it was disclosed that some U. S. planes had gone to Turkey.

The interest in Mr. Roosevelt's action was heightened, moreover, by recent unofficial reports that Germany is unable to guarantee early deliveries of arms and other manufactures which a Nazi trade delegation is purported to have offered in exchange for the Turkish chrome now going to Britain.

Miss Jordan Dies At Monticello

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. MONTICELLO, Ga., Dec. 3.—Miss Anna Jordan, 75, sister of "Fate" Chance Jordan, well known in Georgia sport circles, who died a few months ago, died at her home here Tuesday afternoon.

She was the last surviving member of a prominent family of Jasper county. She was clerk of the board of county commissioners of Jasper county.

Funeral services were held at her home at 3:30 today, and burial was in the Methodist church cemetery.

Lehigh Survivor Visits Brunswick

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. BRUNSWICK, Ga., Dec. 3.—Roy Newkirk, Brunswick young man, who was third officer on the steamship Lehigh when the vessel was sunk off the coast of Africa a few weeks ago, arrived in Brunswick Tuesday afternoon to visit his mother, Mrs. J. S. Newkirk.

The Brunswick man, together with other members of the crew, was picked up after the Lehigh had been torpedoed and was carried to a port in Africa, where he remained sometime before sailing for New York, where he arrived a few days ago.

14,000 U. S. Trucks On Burma Road Soon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(P)—Lend-lease aid to arm China against Axis aggression has reached enormous volume, government officials said today, reporting that approximately 14,000 American-made trucks soon would be in operation over the Burma road.

American fliers who have quit the Army and Navy, for the time being, already are flying patrols over the 700-mile supply route to protect it from Japanese bombing raids, it was reported. About 260 fliers and a larger number of mechanics and technicians have gone into Chinese service.

LAND OF PROMISE—Rabbi Samuel Brod holds his two-year-old grandson, Abraham, for a first look at America as they arrived yesterday in New York on the S. S. Colonial from Lisbon. Refugee from ghettos of Nazi-ruled central Europe, Rabbi Brod was a member of the Polish parliament from 1922 to 1930 and later was chief rabbi in Antwerp.

Youth Is Held Nazis Threaten In Burning of Paris Reprisal Store and Boy In New Slaying

Crawford Sheriff 'Entire Population' Faces Punishment, German General Warns.

ROBERTA, Ga., Dec. 3.—(P)—Arrest of a youth on a charge of "arson resulting in the death of a human being" was announced today by Crawford County Sheriff L. R. O'Neal.

The officer said J. E. Wade Jr., 21, admitted he set fire to the Blue Top store, which burned here last Wednesday night.

Rufus Dent, 18, who worked in the store and slept there at night, perished in the flames.

O'Neal quoted Wade as saying, "I just wanted to burn the store—it was preying on my mind."

The officer said that, although he had been told of a quarrel between Wade and the store management, the suspect denied he was motivated by spite.

The sheriff said Wade, married and father of one child, had "always been a pretty good sort" and, so far as he knew, never was in trouble before.

A tip leading to the arrest, the officer continued, was given him by a younger youth who was with Wade the night of the burning. O'Neal said the boy related that Wade built a fire some distance from the store, waited there until he saw Dent enter to sleep, then set the fire.

"Neal jailed Wade in the Bibb county prison at Macon, Arson resulting in the death of a person is punishable by death in Georgia."

Director Named For Herty Plant

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 3.—(P) Frank S. McCall, chief chemist at the Ford Laboratory, Richmond, Va., has been named technical director of the Herty Foundation Laboratory to succeed William F. Allen, it is announced by the trustees.

Allen resigned recently to go with the A. E. Staley Manufacturing Company, of Decatur, Ill.

McCall had previously been employed by the Herty Laboratory by the late Dr. Charles H. Herty. He was in charge of the research on manufacture of rayon from southern pine.

McCall is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute, receiving his B. S. degree in chemistry in 1932. He is married and has two children.

Former Atlanta Grocer Dies in Lakeland, Fla.

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. NEWNAN, Ga., Dec. 3.—C. P. Stephens, 83, formerly a groceryman in West End in Atlanta, and who later moved to Lakeland, Fla., died at his home there Monday.

The funeral was held at Lakeland today and the body will be brought to Newnan for interment in the City cemetery, where his wife is buried, on Thursday at 11 o'clock. The Rev. E. Nash Broyles, of Park Street Methodist church, Atlanta, will officiate.

Consul Warns Americans To Quit Hongkong

Famous Bank Given Permit To Move Its Quarters.

HONGKONG, Dec. 3.—(P)—The United States consul general today advised all Americans whose presence here is not essential—particularly women and children—to leave this British crown colony as soon as possible.

A similar warning was issued by the Hongkong government Monday to all civilians.

The Governor of Hongkong today gave authority for the removal of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, chief financial organ of Britain's vast Far Eastern interests, as a safety measure in view of the sharpening Far Eastern crisis.

Where the bank's new headquarters would be established was not disclosed.

(The bank is incorporated under the laws of the Colony of Hongkong, where it was established in 1864. It has branches throughout the Orient and in London, New York and San Francisco. During the last three-quarters of a century it has financed a large share of all Far Eastern trade and industry.)

750 BRITONS WITHDRAW FROM SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, Dec. 3.—(P)—About 750 British citizens withdrawing from the Orient sailed from Shanghai today aboard the steamer Anhui, bound for Hongkong and Singapore.

Getting Up Nights Nervousness and Kidney Strain

If you're feeling out of sorts, Get Up Nights as suffer from Burning Passions, Nervousness, Swollen Ankles, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Disturbed Sleep, Headaches, and feel worn-out, the cause may be non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles. Worry, Cold, working too hard or over-eating or drinking may create an excess of acids and overtax your kidneys, and the need help to flush out poisonous wastes that might otherwise undermine your health.

Help Kidneys Remove Acids

Nature provides the kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess acids. The kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters through which the heart pumps blood about 200 times a hour, night and day, so it's easy to see that they may get tired and slow down when overloaded.

Fourteen years ago a practicing physician's prescription called Cystex was made available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help thousands suffering from non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles in their daily lives. It helps the kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisoning and irritating. 2. To relieve burning and stinging of the urinary passages, and bladder irritation. 3. Help the kidneys flush out wastes which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate. Also aiding nature in stimulating an increase of energy, which may be lost due to kidney trouble.

Money Back Guarantee

Usually, in non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder disorders the very first dose of Cystex goes right to work helping the kidneys flush out excess acids, poisons and wastes. If you are not satisfied, we will refund all your money unless you are completely satisfied. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose under this money back guarantee. Don't take chances on your kidneys. Get Cystex from your druggist today for only 35¢. The guarantee is good for 14 days.

Rabun Gap Guild Sets Feb. 17 As Date For Mardi Gras Ball

By SALLY FORTH.

... UNPACK YOUR COSTUMES! Raid the attic trunk for gowns of bygone eras! Or, better still, let your sense of humor govern your choice of a costume for the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee Junior Guild's third annual Mardi Gras ball to be held on Tuesday evening, February 17.

The date for the winter season's most colorful ball was selected Tuesday afternoon when the 18 committee chairmen of the guild met at the Driving Club with the president, Dot (Mrs. George Jr.) Bland. Once more the spacious ballroom of the Driving Club will form the setting for the party, and will be transformed into a Mardi Gras street scene by brilliant and inspired decorations.

Every Atlantan, with even the tiniest streak of frivolity in his nature, attended the Mardi Gras ball last February, when Rebecca Wight (now Mrs. John Cherry) reigned as queen, and Charlie Yates held the king's scepter. And you doubtless recall the extraordinary beauty of the costumes worn, as well as the hilarity caused by the red wig, tremendous rubber ears and feet donned by Jim Dixon for the event.

This year's party will be equally as elaborate. There will be no tableau, but the evening will be chockful of entertaining surprises. Music will be furnished by Bill Clarke and his orchestra, who will be gaily clad in keeping with the theme of the affair—and prizes galore will be awarded for authentic and clever costumes.

Dot's corps of officers includes Olive Bell Davis, first vice president; Dot (Mrs. William Jr.) Lyon, second vice president; and publicity director, Mabel (Mrs. Bart) Gatlin, third vice president; Sarah (Mrs. Ward Jr.) Wight, recording secretary; Lillian Klein, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Oscar Bensley, treasurer.

In collaboration with the Office of Civilian Defense, the American Red Cross has launched an appeal for volunteers to take a special course of training known as the Volunteer Nurses' Aide Course. Women between 18 and 50 can give valuable aid to their community and to the nation by volunteering for this work. Applications for instruction may be made to the Atlanta Chapter

MISS JANE HAWKINS.

Miss Hawkins' Engagement To Mr. Ramsey Is Announced

MARIETTA, Ga., Dec. 3.—Cordial social interest centers in the announcement made by J. H. Hawkins, judge of Blue Ridge circuit court, and Mrs. Hawkins, of the betrothal of their daughter, Miss Jane Hawkins, to Charles Wesley Ramsey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ramsey, of Charlotte, N. C.

The bride-elect is the elder daughter of her parents and has one sister, Miss Ann Hawkins. Her mother was formerly Miss Irene Northcutt, daughter of the late E. H. Northcutt and Mrs. Northcutt. Receiving her education in the Marietta public schools and at Duke University, where she graduated with an A. B. degree, Miss Hawkins is a young woman of high intellectual attainments.

is announced today. And when their marriage occurs on December 22, Duke again will be in the fore, since most of Jane's attendants will be girls who were her special friends at the university.

Jane and her fiancé were classmates at Duke, both having graduated in 1939. The former possesses a lovely voice and while at Duke was a member of the school choir. She still enjoys choral work and at present is a member of the choir of the First Baptist church in Marietta.

A sentimental note is attached to the date chosen by the couple for their marriage. It also marks the birthday anniversary of Jane's mother, Mrs. J. H. Hawkins, who is prominently identified with social, church and civic affairs in Marietta.

ON DECEMBER 27 when Margaret Battle ascends the "middle aisle" to become the beautiful bride of Harrison Clarke, gracing her right hand will be an exquisite diamond ring mounted in an antique gold setting.

The ring was formerly the engagement ring of Margaret's great-grandmother, the late Mrs. L. P. Thomas, and Margaret received it from her mother, Mrs. Margaret Lowman Battle, as a high school graduation present. Margaret's exquisite ivory satin bridal robes and tulle veil will be loaned her by one of her wedding attendants, Sara Jarvis (Mrs. Hal Jr.) Dumas, whose marriage was a brilliant event of the early fall.

Margaret and Harrison have already received an array of handsome gifts, but among the most treasured is a set of Haviland china, which was a present from the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. George Lowman. Mrs. Lowman also gave Margaret and Harrison two graceful chocolate pots which were given to her at the time of her marriage.

THE CURRENT edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," which annually publishes the names of outstanding students throughout the country, includes the names of a number of University of Georgia seniors.

Among the Georgia University students honored are Erle Coker Jr., Julia Farmer, of New Orleans, formerly of Atlanta, and Elizabeth Hosch of Gainesville. Erle is a member of the K. A. fraternity, and Julia and Elizabeth are popular members of the Tri Delta sorority.

Prior to her marriage Miss Bray is being feted at numerous parties, among them being the luncheon at which Miss Ruth Douglas will be hostess December 20 at the Paradise room of the Henry Grady hotel.

Miss Elizabeth Chambliss and Mrs. Thurman Nash will honor the bride-elect at a tea to be given December 21 at the home of Mrs. Nash on LaVista road. December 13 is the date chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Capers Smith for the bridge party at which they will compliment the betrothed couple at their home on Pine circle.

Following the rehearsal for the wedding on December 26, Mrs. Ruth Mills and Wallace Johnson will give a party for Miss Bray and Lieutenant Starr.

Other parties planned for the couple include those at which Miss Anza Hillhouse and Miss Emily Townsend will entertain, the dates to be announced later.

Mrs. Buren Boyd and Mrs. Charlie Fortson were hostesses recently at a miscellaneous sherry at the home of the latter in Sylvan Hills for the bride-elect. Other recent parties for Miss Bray include those given by Mrs. Bill Bracken, Mrs. Charles Ensor and the dinner given by Mrs. Ed Dannelly.

Assisting List For Proctor Debut Announced Today

An important event of the holiday season will be the afternoon reception on December 27 at which Mrs. E. Blair Proctor will present to society her debutante daughter, Miss Mary Lucile Proctor. Several hundred Atlantans and out-of-town guests will be invited to the affair, which will be held between the hours of 4 and 6 at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Among members of the married contingent who will assist Mrs. Proctor in entertaining are Mesdames E. Blair Proctor Jr., Milton Dargan, John G. Burkhardt, E. A. Kalkhurst, E. E. Pomeroy, Lloyd Wheeler, Hill R. Huffman, Frank Block, Robert L. Dement, C. A. Woolford Jr., E. P. Willis, and T. W. Tift.

Miss Proctor continues to be complimented at parties during her debut year, and on December 18 she will share honors with Miss Mary Frances Broach at the morning coffee to be given by Miss Jeanette Cox at her Springdale road residence.

Girl Reserve Group Will Meet Today.

The Y. W. C. A. Girl Reserve committee, of which Mrs. Bolling Jones is chairman, meets this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. W. Cawthorn, 2218 Peachtree road. Miss Bessie Givens, director of Girl Reserve activities, will describe the opening of four new clubs; Christmas service programs; candle-lighting ceremonies for recognition of new members and committee responsibility in providing volunteer advisers to assist and guide girl leaders.

Club advisers who are teachers, young matrons and college students were entertained recently at supper at the Y. W. C. A. Sixteen Girl Reserve clubs are dressing dolls in co-operation with Women's Division, Chamber of Commerce, and are making scrapbooks for crippled children's hospitals and planning other programs of community service.

Every junior high school in the city now sponsors Girl Reserve clubs, with two functioning at Joe Brown and two at Bass. Advisers for these clubs are Mrs. A. Speer, Mrs. Lloyd Williams, Miss Sara Richey, Mrs. S. C. Cruse, Misses Margaret Callaway, Louise Weeks, Katherine Hertzka, Frank Taylor, Wendy Whittle, Mrs. G. W. Harlan.

Committee members working with Mrs. Bowling Jones are: Mesdames W. E. Arnold, Dan Clarke, H. R. Derthick, P. J. Edwards, Frank J. Henry, Carl W. Howard, L. V. Johnson, Warren Mann, Herbert Roth, W. A. Boykin, E. W. Cawthorn, D. R. Paige, Cecil Thompson, Lloyd Killam.

Mrs. William A. White is the former Miss Lydia Lycett, and her marriage took place recently.

Miss Milam Heads Freshman Class.

Miss Margaret Milam, of Clarkston, was named president of the freshman class at Agnes Scott in the recent elections.

Other freshman officers will be Misses Julia Scott Newell, of Atlanta, vice president, and Julia Slack, of Decatur, secretary-treasurer. Freshmen elected on the executive committee of student government were Misses Mary Cumming, of Griffin, and Josephine Young, of Soochow, China.

Barron—Penick.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil C. Barron, of Atlanta, announces the marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Aileen Barron, to Clay Westervelt Penick Jr., of Decatur, in the study of the Druid Hills Baptist church. The marriage was performed November 21 at 8 o'clock by Dr. Louie D. Newton, with the members of the two families present.

Miss Dorothy Martin was maid of honor and Sam Houston served as best man.

Miss Anderson Weds Lieut. F. H. Moore.

The marriage of Miss Mary Alice Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Anderson, of Blue Ridge, to Lieutenant Felton Hatcher Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Herron, of Rome, was solemnized November 25 at Trinity Episcopal church, Columbia, S. C., the Reverend Dr. Melcher officiating.

The bride is an outstanding member of the senior class at the University of Georgia, where she will graduate in March. Lieutenant Moore was graduated from Presbyterian College in the class of 1941, and leaves shortly on foreign service.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Anderson, Blue Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Herron and Hazlehurst Herron, Rome; Billy Farmer, Tampa, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Fowler and Patricia Fowler, of Clinton, S. C.; Mrs. Wallace McCaw, Mrs. E. J. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Graeme Plant, and Miss Margaret Hatcher, of Macon.

Party Planned For Miss Bruce

Miss Carol Bruce, popular Hollywood movie star who is making a personal appearance here at the Fox theater, will be central figure at the party at which Tommy Reed, manager of the Fox, will be host this afternoon at the cocktail hour. The party will be held at the Variety Club room at the Henry Grady hotel and will assemble a group of Atlantans to meet the lovely honor guest at 5 o'clock.

Miss Bruce attained prominence as a torch singer in the stage hit, "Louisiana Purchase." More recently she was starred in the film, "Keep 'Em Flying," which is the current attraction at the Fox.

Oneg Shebat.

Members and friends of Hadasah are invited to attend the Oneg Shebat at the home of Mrs. Louis Bresler, 784 Springdale road, N. E., Saturday, at 2:30 o'clock.

A program has been arranged by Mrs. L. J. Levitas, who will introduce Mrs. J. J. Hellman, chairman of the day. Mrs. Hellman will present a round-table discussion of "Arab-Jewish Relations," and will be assisted by Mrs. S. O. Klotz and Mrs. Harry Dvoskin.

Medical Auxiliary To Meet Friday.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Fulton County Medical Society meets Friday morning at the Crawford W. Long nurses' home, with Mrs. Murdock Equeen presiding.

The members of the ways and means committee, headed by Mrs. Charles Reiser, chairman, will be the hostesses. Mrs. Reiser will be assisted by Mesdames Forrest M. Barfield, James Jennings, Joseph Yampolsky, Jack Bleigh, Needham Bateman, Shelley Davis, A. J. Martin and Dixon Fowler.

Mrs. William P. Dunn, program chairman, will introduce Dr. Sterling Claiborne, who will talk on "Vitamins." Mrs. Harry Rogers has prepared an interesting paper on "The Romance in Research in Medicine of Today." The presentation of a program on this subject is an important event each year on the auxiliary schedule and this year Mrs. Rogers has taken advantage of the interesting developments in medical research in connection with the war.

Seminary Circle To Present Revue

Members of the Washington Seminary Circle for Tallulah Falls School will give a fashion revue and luncheon at Davison-Paxon's at 12:30 o'clock on Saturday. Officers of the Circle who have worked hard to insure the success of the revue are: Miss Lewie Camp, president; Miss Palmolive Holmes, vice president; Miss Caroline Smith, secretary; Miss Harriett Smith, treasurer, and Miss Valerie Blacknall, publicity.

Circulation Improves With Better Breathing

By Dr. William Brady.

Since I was about 16 (writes a medical colleague who is prominent in public health) I have had attacks of paroxysmal tachycardia (to the layman this is spells of heart-hurry or very rapid heart action), about one every three months, the attacks lasting from five minutes to two hours. None of the recognized remedial measures ever did the least bit of good except rest in a quiet room with all clothing loosened.

Electrocardiograms taken during the attack showed a rate of 220 with no abnormality of the waves. All examinations otherwise revealed nothing abnormal.

About two years ago I noticed that the attacks came on just after an interperance of any kind, especially after alcoholic indulgence. Each attack was preceded by several hours of extra-systoles (extra heartbeats) which warned me of what was coming. I have found that by lying down for 15 minutes and practicing your belly breathing I can avert the attack altogether. I found this out before reading your column. Now if you want to look up at that portrait of old John J. Coincidence you have above your desk it is all right with me. Many of us are as well satisfied with our own opinions as you seem to be with some of your rather unethical and unwarranted statements. I am just one of the medical brethren who read your column occasionally, not so much for enlightenment but to see what weird idea it will offer next.

Yours very truly,
M. D.

You are right, Doctor, I didn't discover belly breathing, but even so, I would be grateful if you can refer me to any medical or health instructor, writer or authority who called it belly breathing before I did.

This natural type of breathing is a physiological aid to the circulation, whereas the artificial or unnatural type of breathing advocated and taught by old time physical trainers and self-styled experts retards circulation. The artificial or unnatural type of breathing has been advocated and taught by many poorly educated physical instructors in the schools and by the military authorities, even, it seems, up to the present day in some instances. Any one who teaches that an individual should "draw up" or "draw in" the belly or, as the ignorant say, the "stomach," "abdomen" or "diaphragm" and push out the chest when taking a deep breath is a bad teacher and should not be permitted to exercise such authority. The belly does not contract or draw in during inspiration (taking in air) if the individual breathes normally, naturally, efficiently. On the contrary the belly expands or bulges or inflates when one inspires or takes in air—indeed, this is the right way to think of your breathing if you think of it at all, that is, think of the belly as a bellows (that's the derivation of the word belly) and breathing as inflation of the bellows, which, being elastic, expels air after inflation, without effort on your part.

Shopping Made Easy For Today's Bride

Today's bride may not have months to spend planning and ordering for her wedding. What a comfort it is to have shops which furnish everything a bride needs, complete wedding outfits as well as trousseau furnishings, and have these things right in stock for her to see and have as soon as needed. The gown above, modeled by Miss Dusty Hance, was selected from one such shop. It is fashioned of heavy satin in antique ivory which gleams with golden highlights. The maline yoke is edged with a wide band of fine lace, while cartridge pleats of the satin define the long-torso waistline. A fingertip-length veil of ivory tulle falls from a wreath of orange blossoms which match the ones caught at the neck of the dress. The gown shown is $49.95, but there are other "one-of-a-kind" gowns to select from at this same shop which range from $22.95 up. Winifred Ware at Walnut 6565 will be glad to give further information about the dress.

Leads In Kipling's "Soldiers Three" Go To Gable, Tracy and Beery

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(INS)—The telegram that Kipling's "Soldiers Three" will be made by MGM with—hold your breath—Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy and Wallace Beery in the star spots, just beat me to the Waldorf Towers. That is really a cast and really a story assignment, for Kipling enthusiasts list "Soldiers Three," one of the plain tales from the hills collection, as one of his best. It was published at the same time as "Wee Willie Winkie," "The Story of the Gadsbys," "In Black and White" and others, and curiously enough was written before the author was 24.

De I want to add that Metro is really going to town on this production—which won't be made, however, until late in 1942. There are too many pictures already ticketed for Gable, Tracy and Beery to start the Kipling production sooner than the fall of next year.

Leslie Charteris thinks he's found the way to solve the "Saint" casting problem. I hope so, because it seems every other letter I receive has a suggestion for this part now that George Sanders has been un-sainted. Chat Charteris has written a play, "The Saint Must Behave," which he will produce in Hollywood, and here is the idea: He will try out all the various candidates, including self-appointed amateurs who look promising on the stage in one-week runs, and the contestant making the best impression will be handed the Saint role on the screen. Among the Hollywood actors Henry Wilcoxon is very much in the running.

"In your column of November 21st you stated that a certain high-salaried movie star refused to take money for a broadcast and accepted, instead, a gift of expensive Georgian silverware, over 100 years old, because it was non-taxable," writes Solomon Gordon on the stationery of the Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, New York. "I hate to disillusion you, but the so-called gift is subject to tax. Regulation 10308 reads: 'If services are paid for with something other than money, the fair market value of the thing taken in payment is the amount to be included as income.' I'm not writing this in my official capacity but merely as an interested reader of your column." Thanks for the information.

Personal to lop from the gang: A Mr. Seymour Nebenzahl called to say that Richard Oswald had no right to give you the story that he was going to remake "Mayerling." Nebenzahl says he is the sole producer of the picture starring Boyer and Danielle Darrieux and controls all rights. . . . Katherine De Mille and Anthony Quinn welcomed a little girl this morning and everyone is so happy for them. It was such a tragedy when they lost their baby son last year. The new arrival is named Christina. . . . The entire Paramount lot was in bedlam today when 100 dachshunds, working on E. H. Griffith's "Out of the Frying Pan" set, got loose and scamped all over the lot. Or do you care? . . . Remember how everybody thought Ginny Simms and Kay Kyser had cooled permanently after that "Farewell" cocktail party. Well, guess they must have changed their minds about Ginny going her way and Kay going his. They were holding hands as ardently as ever in the blossom room at the Roosevelt last night.

MY DAY: Carl Sandburg's Pledge for Citizens

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.—Late yesterday afternoon I flew over to Philadelphia to take part in the beginning of their national defense week. Mr. John Kelly was in charge of the evening. There had been street races in the afternoon for boys and, while I was there, the prizes were given out to several individuals and teams.

They had some wonderful high school bands, as well as police and firemen's bands. I had to catch a 9:15 plane back to Washington, so I missed the greater part of the exhibition, but the glimpse of what the young people could do was a great satisfaction. I felt there was potential strength there which could be translated into sound and healthy bodies as they grew up. I feel that our physical fitness program should serve to awaken interest among young people and their elders to look into all available sources of material. They should know how to eat better food (which is what we mean by nutrition) and how to exercise and live in such a way that they will be able to stand physical strains. At the same time they should build within themselves the kind of resistance needed for the long sustained anxiety of a period of emergency.

Carl Sandburg has just sent our Office of Civilian Defense two short pledges which I hope people will copy and carry around with them. The first pledge myself to be a little thoughtful every day about the meaning of freedom and how and why I am a citizen of a republic of free men and women, and how and why men and women toiled and fought yesterday for my freedom today.

If we bear this in mind, I think we shall have a greater sense of responsibility about the preservation of our freedoms today. We shall come to the celebration of December 15, when I hope every person in this country will read the bill of rights again, with a greater sense of obligation to see that the freedoms there listed are truly freedoms enjoyed by every citizen of the United States.

Mr. Sandburg's second pledge reads as follows: "I pledge myself to do a little thinking every day about the need of discipline and how, in a time of national danger more than ever, my own rights as a citizen are tangled and interwoven with the rights of others and these rights always deserve a decent respect."

The Stretching Exercises Straighten Your Posture

By Ida Jean Kain.

With the current accent on fitness, it's just as well you can double up on your stretching. The same exercises that put you in trim will also trim you down.

Stretching exercises make you supple and should be first on your daily defense dozen. Stretching is a natural exercise (you'll notice it is the way animals in captivity keep in condition) and you can depend on it to straighten your posture, lift your chest and strengthen the all-important abdominal muscles.

In a standing stretch, relax the shoulders to avoid any strain or rigidity and center the pull amidships. To make your stretch triply effective, combine it with a twist and a bend as in this exercise: Stand erect with feet parallel and wide apart, arms stretched overhead without hunching shoulders, and your midriff pulled slim. Twist sharply sideward at the waist and very slowly—pulling up all the while—pull the lower abdominal muscles—bend sideward until hands touch floor at outer side of foot. Straighten up, stretch, twist and bend to other side.

If you are not on easy terms with exercise, take your stretching sitting down. Sit on floor with legs straight and wide apart, hands clasped high overhead. Keep spine perfectly straight and pull up with lower abdominal muscles. Twist sharply to one side. Continue pulling up with the abdominal muscles throughout.

For a good, all-around conditioner that trims the hips, practice the side-scissors. This exercise has long been a favorite with physical trainers. Here is the way you do it: Lie on side on floor, one hand on on floor chest-level as a brace, legs together and straight down. Begin by elevating the legs slightly for clearance, then swing one leg forward as you swing the other back. Make the hip muscles do the work and keep swinging—hard! Rest and then work out on the other side. The "scissors" tones the muscles of hips, thighs and abdomen.

No routine would be complete without arm and shoulder exercises.

Boy Is Unwise To Ignore Girls' Past

Dear Dixie:

I am very much interested in a certain young widow. I know that she made an unfortunate marriage and lived with her husband for only a few months. I have been told by some people who know her and her family, that she left her husband because of her love for another man. The other man is married and this girl is trying to break up his home. She seems entirely different to me and I cannot imagine her being this type of person. I do not know what to do, for I know if I continue going with her I will fall in love with her. I do not wish to wreck my marriage by taking the wrong wife. If this is true about this girl, of course, I shall stop dating her. What do you think I should do?

By Dixie George.

YOUNG MAN IN LOVE. Gossip is always exaggerated, and for this reason I would advise that you take this talk about her with the proverbial pinch of salt. Of course you have definite proof that her first marriage went on the rocks very soon. I do not mean to infer that the fault was all hers, because she may have gotten a bad deal, but it seems to me that the cards are stacked against her. I would go slow with her if I were you. I would also try to do a little detective work in regard to her association with this married man.

INDIFFERENCE IS BEST CURE FOR TEASING.

Dear Dixie: My problem may seem small to you, but to me it means a great deal. I will be 13 years old on December 23. My cousin, who lives with me, hates me. She is always very mean to me and uses my ink and stationary all the time. She always uses my things to be mean, except when people are around and then she acts sweet. No one believes me when I tell them how mean she is to me, for they think I am the only mean one. Even my friends have gone back on me. I think the only thing is to run away and get a job. What do you think?

WORRIED.

Why not put your ink and stationary where she cannot find them? Do not let her see that she worries you. Stop talking about her to your family and friends with the exception of your mother, tell her and she will understand.

Have you ever considered where you would go if you ran away and what type work you would do? What would you use for money? You are going to run into people like your cousin all the time and before you try to run away you had better learn how to take it.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

By Edyth Thomas Wallace.

Mother: "I told you I'd help you make out your Christmas list tonight, Sue."

Daughter: "That's right. I almost forgot about it, but you never forget when you promise, do you, Mama?"

Remembering a promise given a child gives him a feeling of security as it shows him his parents consider his interests important.

Daughter: "But you promised you'd help me make out my Christmas list tonight, Mama."

Mother: "Some other time will do just as well. It's a long time yet until Christmas."

Panels Make Child's Frock Gay

By Lillian Mae.

Pattern 4695.

Begin now to teach your little girl how to dress well—choose simple, appropriate clothes that have fine detail! Begin with Pattern 4695 by Lillian Mae, for example—those princess panels are so effective! A striped fabric will show off the cross-grain contrast of the two panels in the front. The dress is charming, too, in a plain fabric with all panels cut on the straight of the grain. The little rounded yoke looks sweet accented with a row of buttons, ruffling, or perhaps a contrast collar . . . the sash is optional. Make this up with the Sewing Instructor's help on details—the sleeves may be short or long, the collar omitted if you prefer.

Pattern 4695 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, short sleeve dress, takes 2 5/8 yards 35 inch fabric; long sleeve dress, 3 3/4 yards 54 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly name, address and style number. Send your order to Pattern Department, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Bryant Boomed As New Coach For Arkansas

Razorbacks May Buy Up Contract of Thomsen, Head Mentor.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 3.—(AP)—An apparently widespread movement to replace Fred C. Thomsen as head football coach at the University of Arkansas increased its tempo yesterday with a declaration by a university trustee in favor of buying up the coach's unexpired $6,000-a-year contract.

"I believe that it would be 'good business' for the University of Arkansas to ask Mr. Thomsen to resign and pay him what is legally and rightfully earned under the extension of his contract, and immediately secure a new coach," Trustee Hugh Park of Van Buren said in response to a poll on the coaching situation instituted by Board Chairman J. G. Ragsdale.

Ragsdale, at his home in El Dorado tonight, said six of the nine board members had replied to his round-robin letter but he declined to make public any of the replies pending a meeting of the board.

He said the board would meet within the next two weeks. The Arkansas Gazette said last night that Paul "Bear" Bryant, now assistant coach at Vanderbilt University, was the "strongest candidate" for Thomsen's job in event a change is made at Arkansas.

The paper said Bryant had been recommended to Ragsdale by "men high in the state administration."

A native Arkansan, Bryant was an All-State high school star at Fordyce and an All-Southeast conference performer at Alabama. He was an aide to Frank Thomas at Alabama for four years and went to Vanderbilt in 1940.

LACH STANDS OUT.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Steve Lach, triple-threat on Duke University's Rose Bowl-bound football team, was named today the outstanding individual performer of the Southern conference season by sports writers and coaches of the loop area.

Sophomore Star JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 3.—Frank Lane, head of the Cincinnati Reds' farm system and a noted northern football official, chooses Billy Hillenbrand, of Indiana, as the sophomore back of the year and one of the greatest, regardless of year in school.

Lane concurs heartily with George Edmondson, a member of the Orange Bowl committee. Edmondson, the greatest traveling football fan of all time, picked Hillenbrand on his All-America team.

Anyway, Lane, who hopes to help in putting a winning baseball team at Birmingham next season, declared today that, of the teams he has seen play, he would be happy to have a backfield composed of Bruce Smith, Minnesota; Billy Hillenbrand, Indiana; Kuzman and Westfall, Michigan.

Naturally, Lane saw no southern teams play. He did all of his officiating in Big Ten games. "Hillenbrand and Smith are a lot alike," Lane pointed out. "I saw Smith play his first game for Minnesota as a sophomore. When he came in to report, his eyes were sticking out on stems and I thought he was a little excited. Well, sir, he ran the first play of his varsity career 45 yards for a touchdown."

Lane spoke of Hillenbrand's unusual poise as a sophomore. The boy was never hurried. He'd catch a punt, for instance, and deliberately stand there waiting for his interference to form.

Someone suggested to Lane he ought to do all right in his junior year, and the Reds' farm chief nodded his head briskly from north to south.

He Caught It Whenever the old-timers of baseball gather, which is annually at both the major and minor league meetings, they fondly recall Uncle Wilbert Robinson, the old Oriole.

One of the stories they like to recall is the time Brooklyn was training at Daytona Beach, less than 100 miles down the road. Stunt flying was just coming into popularity and a noted aviatrix of the day was persuaded to take a player aloft and drop a baseball.

There was some dispute as to who would catch it, and Uncle Robby shoved everyone aside, grabbed a mitt and declared, "I'll catch the ball."

Well, the trainer of the Brooklyn had framed up with the player to drop a mushy Florida grapefruit.

And as Uncle Robby tried for the catch, he miscalculated and the oversize citrus smacked him on top of the head, squishing and splattering juice all around.

Uncle Robby lay on the ground a bit dazed and began to feel the juice trickling down his neck.

"Help me, somebody," said the old Oriole in his gruff tone, "I'm bleeding."

P. S. He fired the trainer on the spot. There is another nifty story they tell, involving Paul Richards and Fresno Thompson, who managed a team in the Southern League for a season.

Paul was catching for Brooklyn and Fresno was playing second. The Robins trained that season in Cuba.

In an exhibition game one day, Richards threw a strike to second as a Cuban broke for the bag, and neither the shortstop nor Thompson covered. The ball rolled on out into center field and the Cuban walked to third.

As Thompson went in to the bench after the inning.

Purple Eleven Full of Steam For Major Test

Southern Prep Championship Will Be Settled in Orange Bowl.

By CHARLIE ROBERTS, Staff Correspondent.

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla., Dec. 3.—"Maybe you think we won't beat Miami High—but we will."

That is the chant, with a real tune—a real song—that Boys' High football players were singing as they rode into Jacksonville last night. And that is the way they really feel about it. That is the spirit being manifest by every member of the squad en route to meet the outfit already dubbed "the greatest prep football team in Florida history."

Whether that spirit will be enough to carry them to victory will be determined at Orange Bowl stadium in Miami Thursday night. Only then will anyone know whether the best in Florida is better than the best in Georgia. Then will come the answer whether the Purple Hurricane of Shorty Doyle, a southern champion for the second straight year, or Jesse Varburg's Singarees have lifted the diadem from their brows.

21 STRAIGHT WINS.

The mighty Hurricane, Georgia state champions for the third consecutive year, has run up a string of 21 straight victories in 22 outings with only one tie to mar a perfect performance, yet they rate only the role of underdog in their clash against the high-riding Singarees. The Georgians have tallied 458 points, an average of about 42 per contest this year. The Floridians have scored at least five touchdowns against every foe except previously undefeated Edison High, and they racked up four in the rain to down Edison, 26 to 13.

This series, which has seen each win four games and tie one, though the Georgians have been at a disadvantage in that all but one of the franchises have been contested on enemy territory.

LOOK LIKE TEXANS.

The G. I. A. A. titlists rode into Florida last night and made the natives sit up and take notice. The locals figured Texas university had changed its mind and accepted the Orange Bowl bid after all. For the colorful Hurricane hustlers were here strictly incognito in their department store "boughten" cowboy, ten-gallon sombreros, and their checkered shirts. Leerie Jenkins and little Joe Floyd took away top honors in the masquerade. And the latter was even asked if he were going to Hialeah as a jockey. (His only jockeying will be that of jockeying the Miamians out of position, however.)

The Hurricane members awoke refreshed today and took a dip in the briny deep before baying the Miami team to a nearby high school football field to take a light work-out, their last before the Miami fray.

Tonight they will take the sandman's tonic here again and tomorrow will bus-over to Jacksonville to catch the streamliner which will take them into Miami.

Win, lose or draw they will stay over for the Miami-V. M. I. engagement Friday night, heading homeward and perhaps greater glory in a post-season bowl game of some sort.

GORDON INJURED.

While All-State Quarterback Jimmy Gordon will be forced to ride that charley-horse up and down the sidelines instead of out there in the middle of the field where the colorful will be raging, and even though Miami gamblers give you six points and still bet on Miami, we'll take a flyer on Castleberry, Paschal and all the others of that Mercury-heeled horde of running fools.

Clint Castleberry, one of the greatest backs in G. I. A. A. history, has another serious problem to ponder. The Atlanta comet, who set a new association record this year with 126 points scored, has already received bids from nine colleges and now he has one more.

This one is a big one—one that is hard to turn down. Capering Clint has the opportunity to go to West Point to do a bit of scampering for the football forces on Uncle Sam's Army. Maybe he will and maybe he won't take your Uncle Samuel up on the proposition, but it just goes to show you how renowned has become the peer of prep pigskin toters in Georgia.

N. Fulton Cagers Defeat Hapeville

Hapeville High opened her basketball season Tuesday night by dropping a double-header to the North Fulton teams.

The visiting girls chalked up a 32 to 18 decision and the Bulldogs, defending Fulton county champions, tossed out the Hornets 19 to 17 after piling up a 13-4 lead at the halftime.

Betty Dorman, of North Fulton, led the girls in scoring with 15 points. Mary Hollis, Hapeville, dropped in 13.

In the boys' contest, Ralph Burks, Bulldog center, got seven to pace the winners. Robert Crowe, forward, got nine for the losers.

LUCKY FOOTBALL STARS—Four University of Georgia co-eds were all smiles for three of the Red and Black's football stars at Athens, after word was received that Georgia had been selected to play in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., New Year's Day. Left to right, Senie Hielis, Sardis, Ga.; Elizabeth Pearce, Atlanta, and Betty Jones and Martha Patat, of Athens, beam across the shoulders of Frankie Sinkwich, Captain Heyward Allen and Co-Captain Cliff Kimsey. Georgia will oppose Texas Christian, but Captain Allen, showing a broken arm received in the Dartmouth game, probably will still be on the sidelines.

PEERING AT PENNANTS

You might not know it, but the next spring training trip is just around the corner. The first loud echoes are already in from Jacksonville, Fla., with 14 major league managers hoping to work out trades or sales that will improve their social position for 1942.

The two managers who can afford to sit back and yawn are Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees and Billy Southworth of the St. Louis Cardinals.

With most of his stars young and active—with people such as DiMaggio, Gordon and Keller around, with his younger pitchers moving up—McCarthy doesn't have to hang out his Christmas stocking. It is already packed.

Billy Southworth's main worry will be in getting rid of talent, not taking it on. The Cardinal leader has 19 good-looking pitchers, and 11 good outfielders waiting for the spring call. Billy needs more ball players just as Minnesota needs more tackles or guards.

But it's different in 14 other camps.

Building Up.

Larry MacPhail and Leo Durocher understand that can't afford to stand pat, even on a pennant winner. Their World Series pitching staff averaged over 33 years.

The Dodgers need another good pitcher, at least one more good infielder and one more hitting outfielder, to defend their place against a Cardinal club that should be better in the next race.

The Reds still have a great pitching staff on hand, with Vander Meer and Riddle due for even better seasons, plus Walters and Derringer and a rookie or two.

This will be Derringer's 16th season and at the age of 35—Paul was 35 in October—the big Red can't be expected to be what he used to be. But there are more than one or two Red spots that need improving, which Bill Mc-

Crain To Play In Blue-Gray Tilt on Dec. 27

Johnny Butler and Three Texas Stars To Aid South Squad.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 3.—

(AP)—Four University of Texas stars, Tennessee's Johnny (Gone With the Wind) Butler, and End H. C. Burrus, of Hardin-Simmons, were named today to play with the South in the fourth Blue and Gray all-star game here December 27.

The Blue and Gray Association announced Jack Crain, spearhead of the Texas attack, had accepted, along with Guards Harold (Buddy) Jungmichael and Donald (Bo) Cohenour and End Preston Flanagan.

These selections, coupled with earlier acceptances today from Abisha (Bish) Pritchard, Virginia Military back, and Roland Goss, Southern Methodist end, completed the 22-member Gray squad, considerably riddled when Alabama and T. C. U. were invited to bowls.

Frank Howard, of Clemson, was named to the Dixie coaching staff today to succeed Dutch Meyer, whose Texas Christians accepted an Orange Bowl invitation. He is a former Alabama star and will team with Red Dawson, of Tulane, and Matty Bell, of S. M. U.

Georgia Tech's Johnny Bosch and Ed Ryckley will handle the whistles for the second annual "Fee Wee" bowl game at Russell High stadium, East Point, Saturday afternoon between the Dixie Rebels, of Atlanta, and the Catholic Youth Organization Club, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

This is the second game of a two-game intersectional series, the first game ending in a scoreless tie played in Cincinnati in November.

Georgia Ranks Fourth In U.S. in Total Offense

Duke Tops Nation With 372.2 Yards Per Game; Duquesne Leader in Total Defense.

By GAIL FOWLER.
SEATTLE, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Bowl choices and undefeated teams generally did all right in this year's statistical chase over the gridiron yardage lines.
The Duke Devils, who play Oregon State in the Rose Bowl, concluded their season with the highest total offensive average since Whizzer White led the 1937 Colorado team to a 375.2-yards-per-game average. Duke finished with 372.2.
Duke was second in rushing offense, behind Missouri, which plays Fordham in the Sugar Bowl. The Missourians averaged 307.7 yards per game on the ground, the American Football Statistical Bureau reported.

Morris Brown Seeks Second National Title

Morris Brown's national champion football team of 1940, which looks to have a good chance to repeat this year, has not lost a football game in their last 15 starts, chalking all victories by decisive scores. They meet North Carolina State College in the Peach Blossom classic in Columbus Saturday in their 16th try for an undefeated record this year and undisputed claim to the Negro national title.
No Negro institution in Atlanta for the past 21 years can boast the record the Wolverines hold under the tutelage of Coaches Nicks, Lockhart and Williams. Coach Artis P. Graves, who is away studying this year, started this record last year when Head Coach W. J. Nicks was away studying, and the record has been held intact throughout the hard season which ends Saturday at Memorial stadium in Columbus, Ga.
Six men who are outstanding candidates for All-American honors will clash in this game to well decide the prowess of each individual. Never before in the history of Negro football has as many all-star performers appeared in any single contest. Morris Brown will offer such sensations as juniors as John Moody, William Wynn, Willis Griffin and Joe Mitchell, while the Eagle of North Carolina will depend on Vince Duckwilder, William (Doc) Gaines and George Mack.
William Gaines, a 200-pound tackle, who has won fame as duck-kicker for the Tarheels, has defeated five teams this year with his toes.

Crackers Sell Herb Crompton To Shreveport

Olson to Pilot Lookouts; Atlanta Acquires Red Ferrell.

By JACK TROY.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 3.—The first transaction of the Atlanta Baseball Club at the minor league baseball convention was to peddle Herb Crompton to Shreveport, of the Texas League, in a strictly cash deal.
Crompton, who alternated in the Crackers catching with Manager Paul Richards, formerly caught for Chattanooga and Savannah. He is a class man.
President Earl Mann said tonight that the Crackers have lost an outstanding young catching prospect to the armed forces. Bill Schwitter, a Manhattan College boy, who finished the '41 season with Atlanta, was recently called by Mr. Whiskers.
Mann and Manager Paul Richards still must deal with Brooklyn, among other clubs, for a reliable shortstop and a couple of pitchers, right and left handed. They're working on it.

To Use Ferrell.
In selling Crompton, Crackers heads indicated that Sol Ferrara, who served for a short time as a rookie and last year started with Savannah, would be Atlanta's second-string catcher next summer. Manager Richards will continue to serve as the first-string catcher. He generally is considered the class of the league.
The Crackers acquired Beverly (Red) Ferrell, an outfielder, from Springfield, Mass., of the Eastern League.
He is a cousin of Rick and Wes Ferrell, former big league players now managing teams in the Bi-State League. The Crackers made no announcement of price or plans, but there was a rumor that Ferrell would be farmed to Savannah in the South Atlantic League.

It was good news to Southern League directors today that Bert Niehoff caught on as manager with the Knoxville Smokies. Bert, one of the league's most popular pilots, almost was on the verge of leaving the circuit. But this afternoon, following an earlier report that he and the Allens couldn't get together, the signing of Niehoff was announced.
That completed the Southern League's managerial roster. Joe Engel announced earlier that Sparky Olson, who finished the season as manager, will be given the job at Chattanooga. Olson, taking over when Kiki Cuyler joined Chicago's Cubs as a coach, made a fine showing.

ROSTER COMPLETE.
The other Southern League managers include Richards, Atlanta; Larry Gilbert, Nashville; Doc Prothro, Memphis; Pat Aiken, New Orleans; John Riddle, Birmingham, and Willis Hudlin, Little Rock.
The Chattanooga Lookouts announced sale of outfielders Calvin Chapman and Earl Bolyard and pitcher Buck Marrow to Dallas, of the Texas League.

President Joe Engel, who made the announcement from the baseball meeting in Jacksonville, did not reveal the purchase price.
Chapman and Bolyard came to the Lookouts in 1940. Chapman hit 315 last season, driving in 108 runs and knocking out 16 homers. Bolyard hit 282 and batted home 94 runs.
Marrow, who came here from Milwaukee, won 14 and lost 14 last season after a slow start.

Sale of the veterans was interpreted as the first step in the Chattanooga plan to become a training ground for young players sent down by Washington, the parent club.
In another managerial move involving an ex-Southern Leaguer, Harry Hanna was named skipper of St. Paul, of the American Association.

The veteran minor league leader and former catcher had piloted Memphis of the Southern Association for two years and before that had spent three years at Los Angeles, winning the Pacific Coast championship in 1938.
COLUMBIA SIGNS PILOT.
The Columbia Reds of the South Atlantic League announced the signing of Manager C. F. (Cap) Croxley for the 1942 season.
The signing of Eddie Dyer, formerly of the Houston club in the Texas League, as manager of the Columbia Red Birds of the American Association was announced here today.

The Pittsburgh Pirates revealed the signing of Virgil (Spud) Davis, veteran National League catcher, as coach.
Davis replaced Mike Kelly on the coaching staff. He recently received his release from the Pittsburgh active list.
Shorty Doyal and Dwight Keith, the Boys' High school coaches, were visitors tonight. Shorty brought his Purple Hurricane here late last night and they worked out today en route to Miami for the game with Jess Yarbrough's Miami Hurricane.

Have You Forgotten Who Won the Series?
The football season is definitely over—for one fan at least! Included in last night's calls to the sports desk was the following question: "How did the Brooklyn Dodgers come out?" The fan asserted that the Dodge grid team was not the Brooklyn in question.
The Dodgers finished in second place in the 1941 World Series, in case any of you have forgotten. There were 27 calls last night on the Boys' High-Miami game, which is not to be played until tonight.

he was met by Uncle Robby, who roared, "Who covered the bag!"
"Nobody," fresh Fresco Thompson answered, with a solemn face, as he kept on walking.
It so nonplussed Uncle Robby, they say, that the incident never was mentioned again.

No Axis To Grind Dissolution of a famed partnership—the Joe Engel-Maurice Bloch axis—has officially taken place at the meeting.

Bloch, one of Auburn's leading football supporters, resigned as president of the Selma, Ala., team of the Southeastern League a few months ago. He is quitting baseball.
But just to renew old acquaintances and keep up contacts, Bloch came to the 40th convention. And when he saw Engel, the greeting was not the same as it was when they were bosom baseball pals.
Instead of the usual stiff-arm salute, they gave each other that familiar gesture of drawing a finger across the throat.
It was quite a partnership while it lasted.

Couldn't Finish It Bill Kaliska, of Atlanta, is host for the Pause that Refreshes at the annual minor league convention, with headquarters at the George Washington hotel.
The special entertainer is Graham Jackson, who was asked by Johnny Nee, Yankee scout, if he would mind playing Schubert's Unfinished Symphony on the accordion.
"Naw, suh, I'll be glad to play it for you, Mr. Nee, but I can't finish it," Graham responded.
Speaking of Bill Kaliska brings to mind—and he brought it up himself—that on the day a young fellow named Nap Rucker broke into the majors as a pitcher for Brooklyn—and a raw recruit from Augusta—Kaliska was there, also as a young man.

Pitching against Christy Mathewson, mind you, Rucker went some 13 innings and lost, 1 to 0.
Baseball people are proud of Nap Rucker, the country gentleman from Roswell.
Nap quit a fine job as scout for Brooklyn to contribute what he could to the defense program of his country. He said he hadn't been able to do much in the last war and wanted to do his bit this time.
So he volunteered to go to Panama as an athletic instructor—the sort of job Gene Tunney is doing—and, according to word received here, old Nap's in there pitching for Uncle Sam, turning in a grand job of training men. He quit a profitable job to accept a captain's pay.

Some Red Faces Odd thing about the Mel Ott-for-Giant-manager announcement is the fact that Horace Stoneham, Giant owner, wishing to get the club back in the good graces of all the metropolitan writers, almost has defeated his own purpose in naming Ott as manager. A couple of New York newspapermen were here on the grounds, as were Stoneham and Ott, a Gretna, La., product.

But Stoneham unwittingly called Toots Shor's famous eating establishment in New York to tell him about the glad tidings and it so happened there were several sports writers in the place at the time.
So, in less time than it takes to say Mel Ott, they had the story in the papers.
Meanwhile, there had been a delay on the Jacksonville end and the New York writers here phoned their offices to explain it.

They were mortified to learn that the story already was on the streets and sidewalks of New York.
In the new Giant setup, of course, had Bill Terry, unpopular with most of the writers, becomes head of the Giant farm system.
A better or more popular story than the selection of Ott, who became a Giant player at the age of 16 and has played 16 straight years of major league ball with New York, will not come out of the 1941 minor league convention.

state has ever had and there is an inclination to give as many as 20 points in substantiation of their belief.

Lieber, Padgett Deals Top Baseball Rumors.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 3. (AP)—Rumors rebounded through the crowded hotel lobbies today as the major league moguls tried to complete some sort of a trade to justify their presence at the convention of the minor leagues.

One of the hottest tidbits was that the Chicago Cubs might give Outfielder Hank Lieber to the New York Giants for a pitcher; another was that the St. Louis Cardinals might sell Outfielder Don Padgett to the Cubs; still another was that the Chicago White Sox would give Outfielder Mike

Police 'Grab' Joseph Engel At Jacksonville

Lookout President Hunted 'Coon Out' of Season.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 3.—Joe Engel, irrepressible president of the Chattanooga Lookouts, was arrested tonight—and police declared it was done because of orders they had received from Chattanooga authorities.

It seems that Engel participated in a raccoon hunt at Chattanooga five days before the season opened and had further evaded the issue by ignoring a warrant and coming to the minor league baseball convention.

So, during tonight's annual smoker, police converged on Engel, who was serving as toastmaster, and removed him from the platform. Giving him service, the police drove a squad car up on an elevator and parked it in the auditorium of the George Washington hotel. They put Engel in the Black Maria in style.
Meanwhile, President Trammell Scott and Maurice Bloch, of Selma, questioned the right of police to do this to Engel—and husky patrolmen picked them up bodily

Down the Alleys

Additional entries for the big Mixed Doubles Saturday night have swelled the present list to over 20 entries. The first prize of $50 is attracting the cream of the Atlanta crop of bowlers, both men and women. Many of the lesser lights, as far as averages are concerned, have signed up because they know that they will get handicaps sufficient to assure their having an equal chance of sharing in all of the prizes. As many additional prizes as the entries warrant will be added to the guaranteed big prize. Entry fees are small, and lots of excitement and fun is in store for all the entrants.

Alfreda Brighton, of the Jellico Coal Company in the Ladies City League, threw in a big game of 127 to lead the league this week; and she was the big reason why her team took two games from Palace Laundry.

George Schepps, of the Dallas club, laughed out loud when Scott and Bloch followed Engel, and police engaged in quite a tussle with him before finally pushing him in and locking the door.

The elevator doors were opened and the black Maria departed with the strange cargo of baseball people. They were released as soon as they got outside the hotel.
But, on the level, Engel must face a charge of 'coon hunting out of season as soon as he returns to Chattanooga. The Chattanooga papers were full of it today.

Smith said athletic officials were undecided on the offer.
Auburn defeated Villanova, 13 to 0, during the past season.

Texas Picked Over Oregon By Williamson

Aggies Get Nod Over Cougars; S. M. U. To Beat Rice.

By PAUL B. WILLIAMSON.

Only 15 leading games remain scheduled for the 1941 football season. Ten will be played this weekend.

The two games that will be followed most widely over the nation Saturday will be Oregon U. invading Texas U. and the Texas Aggies going to Pullman against Washington State College.

The system takes both Texas teams in these games.

On Friday, that fine little band of sophomores from Miami U. of Florida should take those West Pointers of the South from V. M. I. Other Saturday games include Arizona over Utah (my, my!); Hawaii over Williamette; S. M. U. over Rice; Mississippi State over San Francisco; Hardin Simmons over Temple; and the Uclans over Southern California.

Later December games include Villanova over San Francisco; Alford over Hofstra; UCLA over Florida (unless, perhaps, the Uclans lose by a big upsetting score to Southern California); Utah over Honolulu on Christmas Day; and California over Georgia Tech.

Representative football games to be played this week are listed below, with each team's latest rating according to the Williamson National Rating System. This rating is a measure of each team's past performance to date. Results of the games are predicted on this basis.

PROGRESSIVES ENTERTAIN—Tech and Georgia football players were guests at the annual sports rally at the J. P. C. last night. Seated at the dinner table above are Charlie Sanders, Jacket captain; J. P. C. President Herman Gross and Heyward Allen, Bulldog captain. In the back row are Barney Medintz and Joe Gerson, co-chairmen of the committee in charge of the banquet.

Tech's Captain Charlie Sanders Hopes Georgia Can Bring Back Orange Bowl Crown.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

Sports celebrities were a dime-a-dozen last night as the Jewish Progressive Club held its annual sports rally at the beautiful clubhouse on Techwood drive.

They came from all around to be present, but attracting chief interest were members of the Tech and Georgia football squads, who mingled with one another as if they had been teammates.

Captain Charlie Sanders, of Tech, typified the gathering by saying simply, "We tried our best to beat the dickens out of Georgia last Saturday. But now the Tech football players wish Georgia all the luck in the world in its Orange Bowl game with T. C. U. We hope they bring back the title for the state."

CHUMMY ENEMIES. That's the kind of occasion it was, Captain Heyward Allen, of Georgia, spoke a few words. He and Sanders sat next to each other at the head table. They were teammates, you know, at Ramsey High in Birmingham.

Frank Sinkwich, of Georgia, and Johnny Bosch also were called on for remarks by Little Joe Gerson, chairman of the banquet committee.

President Herman Gross welcomed visitors to the club, and Gerson carried on from there, introducing the long list of sports figures present.

Included were Buck Cheves and Fred Sington, well-known football officials; Coach Ears Whitworth, of Georgia; Alf Anderson, Pittsburgh Pirate shortstop; Frank Anderson, baseball coach at Oglethorpe; Tommy Heeder and Cliff McGahey, the sporting goods men; Coach Howell Hollis, of Georgia; Coach John Patrick, of Oglethorpe; Coach Elmer Lampe, Coach Quinton Lumpkin and Coach J. V. Sikes, all of Georgia; Rache Bell, Oscar Brock, Mike Kreevich to the Washington Senators for Doc Cramer.

Padgett, down to a trim 225 pounds, was not the only ball player who came around to find which way the wind was blowing.

Jimmie Fox, the veteran first baseman of the Boston Red Sox, also was on hand—presumably to investigate reports he might be traded. However, the Red Sox made no attempts at deals and Manager Joe Cronin said he had nothing in mind for the near future.

Manager J. J. McCarthy, of the New York Yankees, also disdained trade talks. Paul Derringer and Elmer Riddle, of the Cincinnati Reds; Paul Vanner, of the Boston Braves; Kirby Higbe and Hugh Casey, of Brooklyn, and Gerald Walker, of the Cleveland Indians, were among other major league players here today. Zeke Bonura, a former big league first baseman, more recently of the United States Army, was stationed prominently in the headquarters lobby.

Derringer signed a new contract today, and some of the others likely came for that purpose.

City Basketball

WALTHOUR CITY LEAGUE.

The Walthour City League will resume play tonight at Warren Sports Arena with Dixieland and General Shoe clashing in what is to be the feature game at 8:30 o'clock.

The Shuonens, co-leader of the league, are set to lead the team to victory in this title after a pair of comfortable wins at the Georgia Gasco. The Steelmen, with a fine defense built around Crain and Whitney, should be the only other undefeated club, though they have lost to the Central Cafe, the only other undefeated club, in a 2-1 decision.

Crown five at 9:30 o'clock in another scrappy game. The Covington boys have the greater punch, but lack the experience and all-around ability of the Central Cafe. In the last round, they were defeated in a 2-1 decision.

The program from top to bottom promises plenty of action. In the last round of the four games were decided in the last two minutes of play.

IN FIRST PLACE. Playing the best game of the year, the Dental College Greens took over undisputed possession of first place in the City Basketball League at the Y. M. C. A. last night by defeating the U. S. Army 39 to 21, while the United States Army of Transportation school edged out a 28-24 win over the Jumbia Seminary.

During the last few minutes of the final encounter of the night, Dental College and Bell System played an even game, with the score knotted four times, but then the Greens began booming and throwing baskets by Gretna and Martin the winners were able to force to the floor never again taken on the score. As the halfway point was reached the "Molars" enjoyed a 27-to-10 margin and were able to retain this difference through the closing half.

For the second time in two weeks the United States Army representatives came through a one-point contest, but this time they were on the long end of the scoring. This imbroglio was as close as the score indicates and at no time in the encounter was either team more than three points in the lead.

Dental College Golds, Gasco and the "Yo Scrubs" proved the winning combinations in the third week's session of the Civic Basketball League at the Y. M. C. A. last night by defeating the U. S. Army 39 to 21, while the United States Army of Transportation school edged out a 28-24 win over the Jumbia Seminary.

Schedule for tonight:

7 o'clock, Lids vs. V. M. C. A. Employees.

Collecting Auto License Tags Is Joiner's Hobby

Samples From Every State Adorn Office of Vehicle Chief.

Quiet-spoken W. L. Joiner, director of the State Motor Vehicle Division, is one person who combines his hobby with his business.

Joiner, who has charge of the sale of automobile tags, is collecting tag samples from every state in the Union and has most of them hanging on the wall behind his desk.

If you want to know what kind of license plate New Mexico, or Oregon or Montana will have in 1942, just glance at the wall and, presto, you have it.

All Shapes and Sizes.

There are all shapes and sizes and color combinations. Some, notably California, are the permanent type. That is, they have a place for inserting a piece of metal giving the year and the state so that it will not be necessary to manufacture a complete new tag every year, in the event there is a shortage of steel.

Joiner thinks his hobby might be of particular value to police departments by giving them information on the sizes and colors of various state tags.

He had the same hobby when he served as head of the Motor Vehicle Division from 1929 to 1937.

Since that time, however, the tags seem to have improved in beauty, he says.

Orders 555,000.

In connection with the 1942 tag sales, which do not begin until January 1, Joiner said he was ordering the state prison at Reidsville to manufacture approximately 555,000 plates. There will be approximately 450,000 tags for passenger cars, 25,000 for trucks, 40,000 for trailers and 40,000 miscellaneous.

He pointed out that sales this year had been so brisk he had been forced to put in supplementary orders recently. Through November the State Department had sold 582,900 tags, bringing in $2,245,272.80 as compared with $23,906 tags and $2,075,483.86 for the same period last year.

During November alone Joiner said his department sold 7,916 sets of plates.

at the STATE CAPITOL

Three new members were named to the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners yesterday by the Governor, all for three-year terms. The appointees are Dr. Charles S. Barron, of Atlanta, succeeding Dr. V. H. Lake, of Atlanta, whose term expired August 20, 1940; Dr. J. H. Miller, of Elberton, to succeed Dr. Herman Gray, of Rome, and Dr. Roy Mims, of LaGrange, to succeed Dr. Fred Fowler, of Columbus. Terms of the later two run from August 20, 1941, to August 20, 1944.

The Governor said yesterday he had no comment on the conviction of Former Prison Camp Warden C. A. Jacobson on charges of involuntary manslaughter. The chief executive said he understood Jacobson would appeal his case. Asked if the former warden, who is seen frequently in the Governor's office, would file an application for clemency, the Governor replied it was customary to exhaust all legal efforts before applying for clemency. Jacobson was convicted in connection with the "sweat box" death of a Negro convict in Dade county.

In 1920 when the Georgia securities law was passed, William E. Bush, of Augusta, became the first dealer in securities to apply to the secretary of state for a license. Today Bush is still the No. 1 license. Secretary of State John B. Wilson disclosed yesterday. Only recently he applied for renewal of his annual license. There are approximately 50 dealers in the state.

State Treasurer George B. Hamilton will address the Rotary Club at Newman Friday, he said yesterday. Hamilton said the meeting would begin promptly at noon. He has not yet decided what subject he will take.

W. B. Horton, of Rome, chairman of the State Board of Barbers and Beauty Examiners, recently inaugurated a course in barber and beauty training at the Georgia School for the Deaf in Cave Spring. He reported to the Governor yesterday that 15 students, both boys and girls at the blind school, had enlisted to take the course. The chief executive said he was highly pleased over this program.

Paroles for five Fulton county prisoners were revoked yesterday by the Governor. Involved in the chief executive's orders were Charlie Griffin, sentenced for assault to murder and stabbing, and paroled January 18; Rubin B. Hodges, burglary, June 6; William Edward Wells, larceny of automobile, August 7; James Allen Davis, car-breaking, July 3, and Jack Baugh, larceny of automobile, April 14. Most of the paroles were revoked because the prisoners had not lived up to employment rules.

Horace Hixon, assistant state treasurer, was ill at home yesterday with an attack of influenza. He was stricken as he left the office Tuesday afternoon.

The Army and Navy in Georgia

"I wish you'd get an orderly so we won't be late with our dates all the time!"

The all-Georgia unit, the 101st Separate Coast Artillery Battalion, commanded by Colonel Joseph B. Fraser, brought down 104 of the enemy "Blue" aircraft with its anti-aircraft guns in the final phase of the GHQ share of the Carolina maneuver, totals released yesterday at Camp Stewart disclosed.

The 101st is made up of Headquarters and Battery "C," from Atlanta; Battery "A," from Savannah; Battery "B," from Hinesville, and Battery "D," from Bainbridge. It is commanded by Colonel J. B. Fraser, who was formerly regimental commander of the 108th Cavalry, and has for its executive officer Major Theodore Gulsby, of Atlanta. Plans and training officer is Major A. Lester Henderson, of Savannah.

65 DWELLINGS OPENING AT CAMP STEWART.

Every day this week is moving day at Camp Stewart for 100 non-commissioned officers, civilians and members of their families.

Half of the 200 units of the post's "Oakdale Homes" housing project were opened for occupancy on schedule Monday and authorities expect that 65 of the attractive dwellings on the fringe of the post near Hinesville will be occupied this week. Men returning from the Carolina maneuvers are expected to fill up the other 35 units by the end of the week.

FLOVILLE YOUTH IS MACHINISTS' STUDENT.

Alfred D. Fears, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Fears, of Floville, Ga., is a student of aviation mechanics at the U. S. Naval Air station near Jacksonville.

SOLDIERS ASSIGNED TO OTHER POSTS.

Six Fort McPherson soldiers have been assigned to other posts. To Fort Eustis, Va.: Graves W. Eaves, Cecil J. Lee, Elvin Farr, John E. Moss, and Clyde P. Fincher. Perry F. Eason has been assigned to the air corps at Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

TWENTY-FIVE GEORGIANS ARE TRANSFERRED.

Twenty-five Georgia youths have been transferred from Camp Croft, S. C., one of the Army's four infantry replacement training centers, to the overseas discharge and replacement depot at Fort Monrille, C. S.

The Georgians are: Joseph T. Reynolds, of Soperton; William E. Arrandale, of Tate; Roy J. Concrey, of Donaldsonville; James T. Williams, of Taylorsville; Lewis Wheeler, of Roswell; J. C. Mathis, of Farmington.

At the City Hall

Abolition of the time-honored custom of hearing from department heads after the Christmas holidays as a prelude to the mapping of the following year's budget was announced yesterday by Acting Mayor John A. White, chairman of the finance committee.

Serious work in preparing the 1942 finance sheet was begun yesterday when the conferences were started between West and White and department heads. A tentative budget calling for the expenditure of $10,100,000 for next year already has been submitted by the 1941 budget commission. This figure is approximately $300,000 in excess of the amount certified for 1941.

Acting Mayor John A. White yesterday spent the day commuting between the mayor's office, where he attended to the chief executive's post, and the office of City Comptroller B. Graham West, where a series of conferences were being held with the 33 city department heads concerning next year's demands on the municipal treasury.

Miss Carletta Babb, private secretary to Mayor LeCraw, yesterday was handicapped because she could not see well. With the mayor out of the city, her pupils were dilated for tests for fitting new glasses.

Roy Morris Dobbs yesterday was appointed inspector of locomotives for the city Smoke Abatement Bureau. Dobbs was notified of the designation by Captain William E. Tidmore, director of the department.

Warden Denies Flogger Goes Home at Night

Prisoner Is Locked Up Every Night, Adams Asserts.

Reports that Henry Cauthon, convicted East Point flogger, leaves the River convict camp in Fulton county where he is serving his sentence and goes home every night were denied categorically last night by Warden J. H. Adams.

When the warden was asked if the reports were true, he laughed and declared they were absolutely false.

"He's locked up tonight and he's locked up every night," Adams said. "If you don't believe it you can come out and see. You are welcome to come out and see for yourself any time."

Warden Adams said Cauthon had a job firing the boiler at the rock quarry. Cauthon was one of six convicted floggers and members of the Ku Klux Klan who were denied clemency this week by Governor Talmadge.

Housing Authority To Be Formed by Fulton

Fulton county commissioners yesterday voted unanimously to establish a county housing authority, upon motion of Commissioner E. L. Almand. Chairman Troy Chastain was instructed to name five members to the new body.

Commissioner Almand pointed out that Fulton was behind other counties in the state in the matter of rural housing and the Atlanta housing authority was contemplating housing projects outside the city limits.

Pretty, sweet-voiced, Gipsy-

Pretty, sweet-voiced Ginny Simms, the girl who deserted Kay Kyser's band to take up a career in cinemaland, tonight will prove her dramatic ability when she is pitted in the same ring with Rudy Vallee, who incidentally has started work on his first real dramatic role for the movies, and Lionel Barrymore, elder half of the Barrymore brother team.

The program as usual will be air-waved over the NBC-Rad network and WSB, beginning at 10 o'clock tonight.

Joan Davis, screen comedienne who provided many laughs during November showings of the Valley radio show, will return to the program tonight to vie with Ginny for the love of Rudy. What part the aged Mr. Barrymore will play has not been announced. At any rate, he will be there in place of his brother John who is reportedly laid up "with an attack of the flu." The name of tonight's skit is entitled "Tin Pan Valley," a story about a song writer.

MRS. ROOSEVELT SPEAKS ON "TOWN MEETING" SHOW

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Margaret Bourke-White, First Ladies of the Land and Photography, respectively, will be honored guests on the "Town Meeting of the Air" program tonight at 9:15 o'clock over NBC and WAGA-TV. They will present their views on the subject, "How to Improve the Town. To Improve Health and Welfare of the American People."

Other participants are Howard Conoley, chairman of the executive committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, and Dr. S. S. Goldwater, president of the Association Hospital Service.

Miss Bourke-White recently returned from this country after a tour to the Soviet Union. She is co-author with her husband, Erskine Caldwell, of several books.

Arizona 'Oasis' Story

Told by Old Ranger
The true story behind the Desert Lighthouse, a beacon and refuge for travelers in the Arizona desert, is dramatized on "Death Valley Days" tonight at 8 o'clock over KVCB.

Ma Perkins Begins

"America Preferred," the U. S. Treasury's Mutual symphonic show, will have Lauritz Melchior, famed tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, as guest soloist tonight at 9:30 o'clock over WATL. As usual, Deems Taylor will be the narrator and Alfred Wallenstein will conduct the orchestra. One of the orchestra selections, First Movement from Symphonette No. 2, was written by another distinguished Mutual conductor, Morton Gould.

Ninth Year on NBC
Ma Perkins, whose fictional adventures have become an institution with many American housewives, and her family and many friends will begin their ninth year on NBC with the broadcast today at 3:15 p. m. on the NBC-Red network and WSB.

Ma Perkins, a middle-aged widow who operates a lumber yard in the fictional town of Rushville Center, is the principal figure in the story. Current episodes concern Ma's dealings with a circus stranded in her town.

March of Homage—From "Sigurd Jorsalfar." Opus 56, No. 3, by Grieg.

Air Star Gets Syrup From Home-Town Folk

Maurice Evans, the Shakespearean actor; Gertrude Niesen, glamcorus torch singer, and the Golden Gate quartet of swing fame, head the list of stars for the Treasury Hour program tonight at 8 o'clock over the NBC-Blue network and WAGA. Evans, famous for his flawless interpretation of Shakespearean characters, will star in a dramatic sketch especially written for him by Don Johnson.

Norris Gonn, who plays Ascher to Chester Lauck's Lum over the NBC-Blue network, received a case of sorghum from his home town of Mena, Ark., recently. But it was no ordinary case of sorghum.

First it was shipped to Goff at NBC Hollywood by the real-life Dick Huddleston, who was the inspiration for the character, Dick Huddleston, on Lum and Abner's broadcasts. Secondly, the case was packed and shipped by the Goff Wholesale Grocery Company, which is still run by Goff's family, with Norris himself as secretary and treasurer.

David Newton Dies Suddenly At Haleyondale

Rites for Brother of Louie D. Newton Set for Today.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. HALCYONDALE, Ga., Dec. 3.—David B. Newton, 56, prominent Screven county planter and livestock grower, died suddenly today at his home in the Union Baptist church community. His funeral will be conducted Thursday, and burial will be in the church cemetery. Mr. Newton's wife died in February of this year.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. W. M. Newton, of Atlanta; one sister, Mrs. J. A. Reiser, of Milledgeville; three brothers, W. J. Newton, of Screven county; Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, Atlanta; and Dr. Ralph G. Newton, physician, of Macon; and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Newton had been active in civic and religious activities in this county, serving for many years as a member of the county board of education, and a leader in historic Union Baptist church, where his father, W. M. Newton, was superintendent of the Sunday school for 50 years.

ATLANTA RELATIVES LEAVE FOR HALCYONDALE
Dr. and Mrs. Louie D. Newton left Atlanta Wednesday afternoon, upon receiving the news of the sudden death of his brother, joining his brother and his wife at Macon for the motor trip to their boyhood home, arriving late Wednesday night. Mrs. W. M. Newton, mother of the family, is an invalid at Dr. Louie Newton's home, and is unable to attend the funeral.

German Parachutist Arrested in Eire
DUBLIN, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A man identified as a German parachutist, who landed in Eire in June, 1940, was arrested in Dublin tonight. He was booked as Hermann Goertz. Police said he had a German soldier's identity card made out in another name.

AUTO TAKES DIP—For 48 hours Hollywood police sought this "stolen" auto belonging to Actor Joseph Cotten. It had disappeared from the driveway of the Cotten home. A maid found it at the bottom of the pool, then filled with water, where it had rolled when the hand brakes failed to hold. Moral: cut the wheel and leave car in gear.

John H. Rogers, Ex-Legislator, Dies at Griffin

Rites for Atlantan's Father Is Set for Today.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. GRIFFIN, Ga., Dec. 3.—John H. Rogers, 64, former state legislator from Spalding county and father of Dr. J. Harry Rogers, of Atlanta, died this afternoon after an illness of several months.

Born in Sanford, N. C., he was a member of one of North Carolina's pioneer families. He was associated with cotton mills at Hope Mills, N. C., and moved to Griffin in 1915 and was secretary-treasurer of the Griffin Manufacturing Company for more than 20 years. He was secretary of the Griffin and Spalding county chamber of commerce for many years and recently lived in Macon and Milledgeville. His health failed in June and he returned to Griffin.

For many years he was an elder in the First Presbyterian church and a member of the Griffin Rotary club; was a Mason, Knights Templar, and a Shriner.

He is survived by two sons, Dr. J. Harry Rogers, of Atlanta, and Beverly Rogers, of Griffin; one daughter, Mrs. George Ford, of Louisville, N. C.

Funeral services will be held in Griffin Thursday afternoon.

Louis C. Clark Takes Post as Boss of Farms

State Superintendent Boasts Impressive Political Record.

By LUKE GREENE.

A few hours after he was sworn yesterday as Georgia's new state superintendent of farms, 56-year-old Louis C. Clark, of Greenville, stretched back in his swivel chair on the fourth floor of the capitol, took several puffs on his cigar and proceeded to unwind some of his political philosophy.

Superintendent Clark owns a 3,000-acre farm in Meriwether county and has some good ideas about how to get the most out of the soil. As supervisor of the state farms, he will have two principal objectives:

- (1). Not to buy anything that can be grown on the farms.
- (2). Increase the pasture lands and raise plenty of cattle.

Record as Politician.

However, in addition to his farming background, he has an impressive record as a politician. He was clerk of the superior court of Meriwether county for 24 years and in that position he recorded all the deeds and charters which went into the making of the Warm Springs Foundation.

Because of this indirect connection with the foundation, Clark feels warmly toward President Roosevelt. He leaned far back in his chair and said:

"I'm one of those who can get along with both the state and national administrations."

He boasted that the first Roosevelt Club in the nation was organized right in his office and he was named treasurer. The new superintendent is a big, broad-shouldered fellow, only slightly gray, who looks like he might have lugged a pickskin in his younger years. And he did. Fact is, he was captain of Georgia Tech's football team in 1905, when it beat Georgia 40 to 0. He also made All-Southern fullback that year.

FARM HEAD—Louis C. Clark, of Greenville, former Tech football star, was sworn in yesterday by the Governor as state superintendent of farms. Clark says he can get along with both state and national administrations.

"Chip Robert was a substitute and made his 'T' the year I was captain," Clark recalled. "Bill Alexander was just a freshman then."

Ran for Congress.

Clark ran for congress in the fourth district last year, but was defeated. However, he is proud of the fact he carried his home county without asking for a vote. He is also proud that he has a first cousin, Clark Howell Todd, who was named for the late Clark Howell Sr., editor and publisher of The Constitution.

His father, who is 94, has been taking The Constitution all his life and is widely known in Meriwether county as "Uncle Billy" Clark.

As superintendent of farms, Clark succeeded the late C. C. McKnight, who died last week. Both were reared in the same precinct in Meriwether county.

Clark's job includes direction of the farm work at the state prison, insane asylum, several of the junior colleges, the boys and girls training schools and the school for the deaf at Cave Spring.

U.S. To Take Land For Rail Siding

Assistant U. S. Attorney Astor Merritt will file a declaration of taking to acquire 6.23 acres of land for the federal government in district court tomorrow.

The land is adjacent to the property of Lawson General hospital and is to be used as a Southern railroad siding for the loading and unloading of hospital supplies, Merritt said.

A declaration of taking precedes a condemnation suit and gives the government immediate possession of the property. Before filing the declaration, however, the government must deposit with the court twice the worth of the property, as determined by a group of court-appointed appraisers.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas blows up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sick and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up" and get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10c and 25c.
